

Endgame of The New World Order

The Revealing

D. Wilcock

Part I

Are events like the sudden announcement of Jesus' tomb — by blockbuster Hollywood director James Cameron — paving the way for an event the "negative elite," "New World Order" or "Illuminati" refer to as "The Revealing," where they formally announce their presence to the world?

"I remember that when I was in San Diego on Leadership Council during meetings, they would laugh about how people had no idea of how much they were being influenced and didn't even know it. They found that kind of amusing, which is... I mean, that's the mindset of people in the group, though. They're like, 'The sheep have no idea that they're being led by the hand.'"

If you haven't noticed that things are starting to move at faster-than-light speed in the world, then you're not paying attention. All the major events of February 2007, including the Anna Nicole Smith / Britney Spears episodes, have suddenly taken on an incredible archetypal significance - which I am in the process of explaining in these day-by-day updates - as a result of the story of Jesus' tomb coming out in the mainstream.

I believe everything is related in this case. In order to understand why I would say that, it's a good idea to visit my website and begin reading at Cosmic Perspective on Daily Events, since this is a daily article series that is quickly turning into a book.

We are now arguably in one of the most significant periods of time in the entire history of human civilization as we know it, and it almost crept up out of nowhere, right before the Oscars. This is consistent with the type of "surprises" that we can expect more and more of as we head towards the 2012 focal-point, which is the subject of my own upcoming magnum opus.

Tomorrow we'll get back into what I call the "Eve-Magdalene Effect," and continue our discussion on Britney Spears' recent outburst and how it reveals a deep subconscious bias in the minds of modern women, tracing all the way back to these "core programs" that we all have in the deep subconscious "animal" mind of humanity. Through certain religious misunderstandings going back more than two thousand years, our modern behaviors may have been affected in negative ways.

Today, we're going to pre-empt our punch-line by laying the foundation of how these social problems may have been engineered, by powers most of us remain blissfully unaware of - at least until recently. The mass consciousness is finally catching on after observing the following things happen:

- Hurricane Katrina - the complete lack of care or attention shown to this problem that was much worse than 9/11 in terms of damage to American infrastructure and casualties - including reports of aid into the city being blocked;

- the idea of 9/11 being an 'inside job,' with Dylan Avery's "Loose Change", particularly the 2nd Edition Recut, being a film that hundreds of millions of people are watching for free on YouTube, which completely collapses the "official" story like a controlled demolition;
- the Bush Administration's steady push towards greater war, and no Iraq pullout, despite massive voter condemnation... seen in the revolutionary changes in the Senate, House of Representatives and state governorships last November;
- the long-standing efforts to deny climate change, or "global warming" is real, despite massive, ongoing evidence to the contrary - a game that only finally broke down this past January thanks to it finally becoming too radical to ignore, due to events like the death of California's citrus crop. Finally, at long last, it is being treated as a fact in the mainstream media and American government. Gore won the Oscar last night for his documentary, An Inconvenient Truth, and a major rallying speech was given by him and by Melissa Etheridge to create momentum for political change on this key issue.

I was going to wait until later to fill in the greater context of all these events, but the pieces are moving so fast on the chessboard that today had to be the day. I hardly ever write articles about this shadowy group, though I know a great deal about them, but this was one time I had to speak up.

"The Illuminati very rarely does outside recruitment. That's not their main method. It's just passed down generationally, from father to son, and mother to daughters to children. And so the whole family line has been in it.

Throughout the centuries people have tried to escape, but a lot of times they were either poisoned, murdered or set up to look like a suicide. They don't like it when people leave, and they try to make it very difficult..."

NWO Defector, January 17, 2006

Beginning with an article on Friday, it leaked out that today, Monday, February 26, 2007, blockbuster movie director James Cameron is formally revealing "scientific proof" to the world that he has found the tomb of Jesus, that Jesus was buried with Mary Magdalene, and that they were married and had a son Judah, who was also buried alongside them:

"A Hollywood director will today unveil three coffins he claims were those of Jesus, his mother Mary and his 'wife' Mary Magdalene.

James Cameron says he has proof that Jesus married Mary and that she bore him a son, Judah, who was buried alongside them.

The Titanic director has produced a documentary telling the story of ten stone coffins found in a 2,000-year-old tomb in Jerusalem by Israeli builders.

The Lost Tomb of Jesus, made for the Discovery Channel, will be shown in the U.S. this week and later in Britain by Channel 4.

Today, Cameron is holding a press conference on what he describes as 'one of the greatest archaeological finds of all time'.

Crucially, he is not denying the resurrection - as there were no bones in the caskets."

Pay attention to that last sentence, which I bolded, because it is blatantly contradicted later in the same article, which I will bold for emphasis as we read on:

"But the £2million film still strikes at the foundation of Christianity in the same manner as the novel The Da Vinci Code, by Dan Brown, in claiming that Jesus married and had a family.

His theory, which has already met with derision from experts, centers on a tomb found in the Talpiot suburb in 1980. Inside, archaeologists found ten coffins, or caskets for bones, and three skulls.

Six had names etched into them, which were translated as Jesus son of Joseph, Judah son of Jesus, Maria, Mariamne (thought to be Mary Magdalene's real name), Joseph and Matthew.

At the time the inscriptions provoked little interest. The Israeli Antiquities Authority said the names were common at the time.

A connection to the holy family was not made until 15 years later, when a film crew stumbled across the collection in a storeroom.

Though the bones had long since been reburied elsewhere, as was the custom, tiny traces of DNA left in the caskets were tested.

The results for the coffins labeled Jesus and Mariamne showed the two were not related by blood, leading Cameron and his team to conclude they were married."

First the article says "no bones were found," therefore it does not deny the idea that Jesus died, ascended and returned in a light-body form, in the so-called Resurrection. Then it says that traces of DNA were found in Jesus' tomb, 'proving' he and Mary were not related by blood. DNA indicates the remains of a dead corpse, meaning Jesus was a man who died and decayed and left bones behind like anyone else.

I personally am not trying to fight one way or the other - I do happen to believe Jesus had "Ascended" abilities, took on "Christ Consciousness", and was intended as a way-shower for the rest of us:

"As I do these things, so shall ye do them, and greater things"

- John 14:12 -

but it is noteworthy to point out the bias in the article, as it does say two different things.

Let's move on:

"The film's Israeli director, Simcha Jacobovici, said: 'Either this cluster-of names represents the tomb of Jesus of Nazareth and his family,

'Or, some other family, with this very same constellation of names, existed at precisely the same time in history in Jerusalem.'

The idea that Mary Magdalene had a child with Jesus was the main theme of The Da Vinci Code. The book claimed their union was kept secret in a church conspiracy.

The location of Cameron's conference is being kept secret until the last moment to stop crowds trying to see the artifacts. The cave in which they were found has also been put under armed guard.

However, the archaeologist who oversaw the work at the tomb described the theory as 'nonsense'.

Amos Kloner said the names found on the coffins had been found in tombs before, adding: 'It makes a great story for a TV film, but it's impossible.

'Jesus and his relatives were a Galilee family with no ties in Jerusalem. The Talpiot tomb belonged to a middle-class family from the first century.'

Another article linked on Drudge Report this morning says Cameron's statisticians have calculated that the chance this is anyone OTHER than Jesus and his family of Biblical renown is literally a million to one:

"Cameron told NBC'S "Today" show that statisticians found "in the range of a couple of million to one in favor of it being them." Simcha Jacobovici, the Toronto filmmaker who directed the documentary, said the implications "are huge."

[Update 6:52 pm PST: The conference was held at the New York Public Library. Two of the ossuaries were put on display. You can watch a Reuters video of the whole thing]

SYNCHRONICITY: KEEPING THE BALANCE

Here is where the game of Cosmic "Synchronicity" comes in.

It has been my experience that important events like this - which could be interpreted as another grab for power by our so-called 'Negative Elite' - end up being balanced by other events that reveal the greater perspective. In that way, humanity's free will is preserved, and we can avoid mental or physical enslavement. By my writing this article and pointing out how this balance happened, and the intriguing synchronicity of the timing, hopefully the greatest good will come out of it.

Here's the deal: On almost exactly the same day as the story of Jesus' Tomb was breaking, a brand-new article came out on the ever-popular alternative news site Rense.com by a certain 'Ed Koni'. This man claims to have personally met and worked with a woman who is arguably the most highly-informative "Illuminati" defector of all time... a woman going by the pseudonym 'Svali'.

What is the Illuminati?

I thought you'd never ask. The first thing Koni does in his article is point us back to what I feel is the single most valuable article ever written on the Illuminati. It was authored by Henry Makow, on October 14, 2002, and describes the findings from the testimony of Svali.

I will leave it to you to read the whole thing, but we'll share the opening paragraphs for emphasis:
"If you detect the devil's hand in current events, you may be closer to the truth than you think.

A woman who was raised in the Illuminati cult describes a powerful secret organization comprising one per cent of the U.S. population that has infiltrated all social institutions and is covertly preparing a military takeover. Her revelations cast the "war on terror" and "homeland security" in their true light.

"Svali" is the pseudonym of the woman, age 45, who was a mind "programmer" for the cult until 1996. She was the sixth head trainer in the San Diego branch and had 30 trainers reporting to her. She has risked her life to warn humanity of the Illuminati's covert power and agenda.

She describes a sadistic Satanic cult led by the richest and most powerful people in the world. It is largely homosexual and pedophile, practices animal sacrifice and ritual murder. It works "hand in glove" with the CIA and Freemasonry. It is Aryan supremacist (German is spoken at the top) but welcomes Jewish apostates. It controls the world traffic in drugs, guns, pornography and prostitution. It may be the hand behind political assassination, and "terrorism," including Sept. 11, the Maryland sniper and the Bali bomb blast.

It has infiltrated government on a local, state and national level; education and financial institutions; religion and the media. Based in Europe, it plans a "world order" that will make its earlier attempts, Nazism and Communism, look like picnics. One other detail: these people are not happy.

Svali's courageous testimony explains why our children are no longer taught civic values, why they are being habituated to homosexuality and violence, and why our "culture" is descending into nihilism and sexual depravity. It raises the possibility that George W. Bush and his Administration are Illuminists and much of the world "elite" is engaged in a mind-boggling criminal conspiracy."

Svali did also take the time to put together a website for other survivors of this group, clearly demonstrating that she had moved totally into the Christian side of things - the exact opposite of where she had been before:

[Snapshot of Svali's former website, www.lionlambministries.org , from www.archive.org]

WHY DO THEY HATE CHRISTIANITY SO MUCH?

Now let's keep everything straight.

First we read the announcement of the alleged discovery of Jesus' Tomb, complete with Mary Magdalene and their supposed son Judah. Such a discovery, coming on the heels of the wildly successful Da Vinci Code book and movie, could seriously undermine Christianity to the masses.

Svali's testimony clearly indicates, again and again, that this group, or "Family" as they call themselves, absolutely despises the Christian faith, and its adherents.

- Why might that be?
- If they are the "Family" of Jesus' descendants, as it increasingly seems that they believe, then what possibly could make them HATE Christianity?

The answer to this apparent riddle is in how Jesus' alleged original descendents, the "Desposyni" - were genocidally wiped out, on order of Pope Sylvester of Rome, following a major showdown in 318:

"In A.D. 318, the then Bishop of Rome (now known as Pope Sylvester) is said to have met personally with eight Desposyni leaders - each of whom presided over a branch of the Church - at the Lateran Palace. They are reported to have requested,

- (1) that the confirmation of Christian bishops of Jerusalem, Antioch, Ephesus and Alexandria be revoked
- (2) that these bishoprics be conferred instead on members of the Desposyni
- (3) that Christian churches 'resume' sending money to the Desposyni Church in Jerusalem, which was to be regarded as the definitive Mother Church

"Not surprisingly, the Bishop of Rome rejected these requests, stating that the Mother Church was now Rome and that Rome had authority to appoint her own bishops. This is said to have been the last contact between the Judaeo-Christian Nazarenes and the coalescing orthodoxy based on Pauline thought."

- Baigent, Leigh & Lincoln,
The Messianic Legacy

Here is a reference on the massacre that took place after this showdown:

"Some reconciled themselves with the Roman church but only as individuals. Some passed into the anonymity of the Eastern rites. The rest were hunted as outlaws. But most of them died by the sword hunted by Roman garrisons as outlaws or by starvation when they were deprived of their small farms and were forced into the cities to be controlled and to be reduced to zero birthrate.

Their fate is an utter condemnation of the religion that claimed to represent Jesus Christ. They hunted down and killed his blood relatives because they stood in condemnation of the system that purported to represent him. It was totally opposed to all that he taught and practiced. The myth of the Virgin Mary, which was not her name in any case, was partly enforced to cover up this horrendous massacre of her descendants, and her relative's descendants, who kept God's laws and followed her firstborn son Yahoshua, the Son of God." From there, the historical records apparently state that Rome did not succeed in killing off all the Desposyni. Some of them managed to escape, and head North, ultimately settling in countries like France, where they formed the Merovingian royal bloodline, now so well-known thanks to Da Vinci Code lore.

Fans of the first "Matrix" movie might better understand the agenda that was advanced in the second and third films by reading Svali's radio-show transcript, which we link to later on in this article.

Neo was intended to symbolize a new replacement for Jesus, and the character called "the Merovingian" was suggested to represent the first incarnation of Neo:

[A strong part of what made movie fans "hate" the second and third Matrix films so much, and not even want to talk about them once they came out, was the unsettling fact that Neo ended up cutting a deal with the evil force behind the Agents, simply because an even greater evil - namely Agent Smith, Neo's twin - had seized control of everyone in the Matrix.

This appears to have been intended to send a message to all the kiddies and fan-boys watching the movie that they should join up with 'Family' at the time of The Revealing. Agent Smith is intended to be a parody of the militant, bastardized Christianity that the Family feels had arisen from Jesus' original teachings.

For a more in-depth analysis of this type of movie propaganda, including the hidden 'Family' metaphors in the Matrix, visit <http://www.greatdreams.com/political/media03.html>.]

As they fled their homeland and headed North, the Desposyni were abducted and raped by the Visigoth barbarians, and the children that resulted ALSO kept records of their blood descent. This might account for there being 13 different principal bloodlines in the Illuminati, and why they are so keen on preserving its 'magical power' through not breeding outside the group, as we will see later.

Seven years after the Desposyni stood their ground and were predominantly wiped out, the Council of Nicaea was convened, in 325 AD. This was where all the free-floating documents related to Jesus' ministry were gathered up by Emperor Constantine of Rome and compiled into the New Testament. There were many deletions, omissions and rewrites. Many gospels were completely left out, including the Gospel of Thomas and the Gospel of Mary Magdalene.

Now that original source documents of ALL the missing scriptures have been found - i.e. the Nag Hammadi and Dead Sea Scrolls - they are not being released, because the Church fears the effect it would have on the credibility of the New Testament. Books were deleted and entire passages were rewritten to artificially introduce distortions into the original teachings, such as the idea of an unbreakable 'Trinity' of God the Father, God the Son and God the Holy Spirit, which excludes the rest of us.

I will have more to say on this in future updates.

So, they are not necessarily anti-Jesus, (in some cases,) but more 'anti' any religion that has founded around him. Strangely enough, according to Svali's testimony they actually infiltrated the very heart of the group they most despise - namely the Catholic Church.

Since they have clearly gotten caught up in the illusion of power over others and self-serving / negative behavior, I do not support their ambitions, though I see the role they play in humanity's evolution.

ED KONI COMES FORWARD - AND THE STORY GETS 'LEGS'

Now, at the same time that Jesus' Tomb is being announced, we have someone come forward - Ed Koni - who gives us a rare, first-hand testimony about having met and worked with Svali at a church in San Diego. This is one of the biggest movements on the Svali story since she went public, perhaps second only to the live radio show she did with Greg Szymanski.

This new testimony certainly helps us flesh out the character of Svali, and adds a great deal of additional weight to the idea that she IS a real person, and that she IS telling the truth. Listening to the original MP3s of her radio appearance with Szymanski is proof enough in itself - every person I've had listen to it has come away convinced, even if they were skeptical going in, because it is clear this woman is not acting. The terror in her voice is quite palpable.

Don't take my word for it, though; listen for yourself and read along with the transcript I link to below. I do not believe Koni is lying and I do not believe the timing of these releases are a coincidence. Before going back and listening to these MP3s, I recommend you finish this article you are now reading first.

Let's go ahead and check out a little of what Koni said regarding his relationship to Svali:

"Back in the early 1990's, I was working in a large church in the greater San Diego, CA area, doing counseling with a pastor there. We had recently started working with abuse victims helping them to deal with the many problems they faced.

We were both new to this field, but were excited about the opportunity God had opened for us to help some of the many hurting people in the congregation.

It was a Wesleyan church, and we had the "silent blessing" of the head pastor to work with these people, as long as it was kept out of the limelight and no trouble came out of it. He didn't want the main body to be aware that we were working with people who had demonic problems and certainly there was not to be any talk of Satanic Ritual Abuse! No, that wouldn't go over well and might scare away half of the congregation.

Soon after word slowly got out that we were working to help people with "spiritual problems", we were contacted by another Wesleyan pastor from a nearby small, Wesleyan church. I will never forget what he asked me.

He said,

"I have a young couple at our church that I feel God has His hand upon them and wants to use them in ministry at our church. The woman though, has a few spiritual issues and I would like you guys to help her out." I responded, "Sure, let's all get together and pray about this and see how the Lord leads us."

We scheduled an appointment the following week. As soon as we met, I could see a real nervousness in the young woman. Her name was Svali. (Actually that is her alias she now goes by and I don't want to reveal her real name for the sake of her safety and privacy.) "

A bit farther down, Koni explains how he lost touch with her after these early events, later reconnected with her (as we see in the next excerpt), and now has confirmed that she has completely disappeared. It is possible that this group she escaped from may have silenced her in some way, possibly including assassination.

If this did happen, it may be a direct result of the radio broadcast you can still hear on those MP3s:

"I soon was able to track down Svali through her articles and was able to call her and talk in person with her. I was so relieved to see she was not only still walking with the Lord but she was working very diligently on her healing and also was being very vocal about her past involvement in the Illuminati.

I cautioned her about that. She knew the risks involved though, more than I did, and she insisted on writing and speaking out about the activities of the cult. She was very brave, very outspoken, and as far as I can tell, very truthful in what she stated. Nothing I ever read went against what I knew to be true about her.

I kept in touch with her by email and tried to encourage her and support her in whatever way I could. I consider Svali a true sister in the Lord. One who truly loved the Lord Jesus and was ready to die for Him. I know though she was motivated by her hatred for the evil things the cult did to people, especially the children. I think also she felt very guilty for what she had done in the past while in the cult even though she knew God had forgiven her. She had a true hatred of what they do, as God also does, but that hatred may now have cost her her very life.

I know the cult did constantly harass her and warn her about speaking out and that she was abducted, abused and strongly admonished to keep quiet. I was alerted last year by someone who knew Svali that she was no longer answering any emails sent to her and that no one knew where she was. I have searched for her myself and tried to contact her but no one has seen or heard of where Svali is. I tried emailing Svali, to no avail.

Also, her web site has been stripped of all her articles and just meaningless links remain. The owner of the web site is someone in Kingstown, VC?? All her artwork, poems and articles are gone. I doubt Svali would take all that down, but who knows.

I hope and pray she is okay. She was very brave to speak out as she did, but she knew the risk involved. Yes, she had two children, a boy and a girl, and they would be about high school age now. I have no idea where they are.

I am hoping and praying that this dear sister is okay and that she hasn't been kidnapped or killed. Please pray for her safety and if anyone knows of her whereabouts, please let me know. "

THE PLOT THICKENS: GETTING TO THE HARD EVIDENCE

Now if you're still with me, but saying "Nah, this is BS," the most important single document to read about Svali is the entire transcript of her radio appearance with Greg Szymanski, just over a year ago on January 18, 2006 - the same show that you hear in the MP3s we show above.

The transcript emerged online last July.

Before we read some excerpts from that appearance, let me just say that I first became aware of Svali's online writings in 2001, thanks to a now-defunct website called Centrex News.

If you have a strong stomach, and a very powerfully inspiring and uplifting series of words you can read as an antidote, I recommend digging into this archive and beginning with Part I: About Svali, December 18, 2000, and then reading up from there. This site was never organized in a very readable, sequential way, so you have to enter in at the middle and work your way up to make the most sense out of it.

That body of material was what I found first, and then I discovered even more of her writings on www.suite101.com. This was BEFORE September 11th, 2001. As soon as 9/11 happened, I started to see how it had this group's fingerprints all over it. As the years went by, I watched as Svali NEVER tried to make money, gain fame or otherwise benefit from releasing this information.

Though I do want you to read the radio-show transcript yourself, it is prohibitively long for this update.

I feel the most important point, for our own immediate future, is that this group DOES intend to come out in the open and tell the world who they are, and what they are doing. They call this pivotal moment of disclosure "The Revealing". For some people, that might seem like an utterly terrifying concept, but they DO plan on doing this... and you knowing about it, today, helps insure that the plan will not succeed.

Svali further suggests, in the next excerpt, that there is "a HUGE push" towards The Revealing in our near future - nearer than we may ever believe. Originally they didn't plan to do it until 2050, but perhaps they have become far more aware of the reality of an impending event in 2012, and therefore are now concerned enough that they have massively accelerated the timetable for disclosure.

The planning for this "Revealing" may also explain why there has been a moratorium on any publicity regarding UFOs. If they intend to use the "Jesus' bloodline" argument as an ultimate validation of their God-like status, they don't want competition from beings that obviously appear more evolved than any 'normal humans' on Earth, and who are allegedly flying around in technologies beyond our imagination.

Here are the key Svali quotes from her radio interview on The Revealing, which emerge with a caller named Chris:

"CH: (calm, relaxed cadence): Hi. Svali, I just want to say how much I appreciate your bravery, in presenting this information in the way that you are. I've read your website recently. And my question is very simple. Based on the information that you're presenting, I'm wondering what timeline the organization of the larger Family that you're describing has for implementing the New World Order?

SV: Okay. I was told it would occur during my generation. I was told that by the year 2050 that they would be revealed. Now again, their timelines change, though. In fact, I jokingly referred to them as being like the Soviet Union, because you know how they had their five and ten year plans, and then things always got changed? In my own lifetime I saw several different timelines for things that were supposed to occur and change.

But as Greg noted, I've also heard of, from different people, that actually there is a HUGE push in the last few years. It's like, "It's CLOSE. It's CLOSE. Let's make things happen more quickly."

CH: Mm hm.

SV: So I couldn't begin to guess whether that's an accurate timeline or not. I know what I was told.

CH: I have a follow up question and that's it...

GS: Go ahead.

CH: ...and this will be it for me. I have recently, against my own resistance to doing so, investigated, started to investigate fringe matters, if you will. Among them, the upcoming date on the Mayan Calendar of 2012.

SV: Uh huh.

CH: And as I've done this research, I've allowed myself just to be open to this information without believing anything I'm reading. One of the ideas that is presenting itself is that around 2012, not just according to the Mayan Calendar but many other theories out there, that we will be undergoing, as a planet, a revolutionary shift, if you will, of some kind or another.

And I'm wondering in the back of my mind if there might be any kind of race against the clock on THAT scale, if you will - especially if we're talking about a potential spiritual warfare...

SV: Oh, yeah.

CH: ...using your words in play here. Do you see a possible relation there?

SV: Yes, I do. And, 2012 IS an important year. But again, I was not told that the final Revealing would occur then. But I believe that probably... what will happen is that there will be events taking place that will help to set the stage.

CH: Okay.

SV: But it's going to be... I was told... again, I'm telling you what I was told while a member of the group, so please take it with a grain of salt. As I know, these people aren't always honest or trustworthy - they are deceptive. But I was told that there would be an enormous economic collapse prior to the Revealing. That basically the stock market would destabilize.

CH: Well, that appears to be already happening.

SV: Yeah. Yeah. And I was told it would make the Great Depression look like Sunday school. And at that time, it's going to... they're going to really be manipulating finances to bring about chaos, confusion, warfare, and then...

But see, I don't like to be so negative. But I am telling you what I was taught when I was in the group, you know?

CH: Well, I so appreciate it...."

HOLDING OUT FOR A HERO 'TILL THE MOURNING LIGHT

The "Family" is also expecting their own form of a Messiah to appear as a result of these events that they deliberately create. Many people accused Reagan of trying provoke Armageddon by the nuclear showdown with the Soviet Union because Christians in the administration wanted to see Jesus return. They're on the right track, but haven't really seen the point.

Naturally, this group believes their Messiah will be the good guy, not the bad guy.

Here's where Svali discusses this crucial detail of the Family's mythos. It ties directly back into the Matrix film trilogy, as ultimately the story of Neo is the story of this hoped-for Messianic figure's rise to power:

"They are very expectantly awaiting He Who Is To Come, and during that ceremony in the Vatican, on my knees I had to swear my allegiance to serve He Who Is To Come."

- "Svali"

NWO Defector, January 17, 2006

Some Matrix fans started to see that, in conventional Biblical terms, Agent Smith could represent Christ and Neo could represent the Anti-Christ.

Even the Christian Science Monitor was alarmed enough by all the connections between the Matrix and Christianity to actually publish an article about it:

THE REVEALING - PIECES MOVING INTO POSITION ON THE 'GRAND CHESSBOARD'

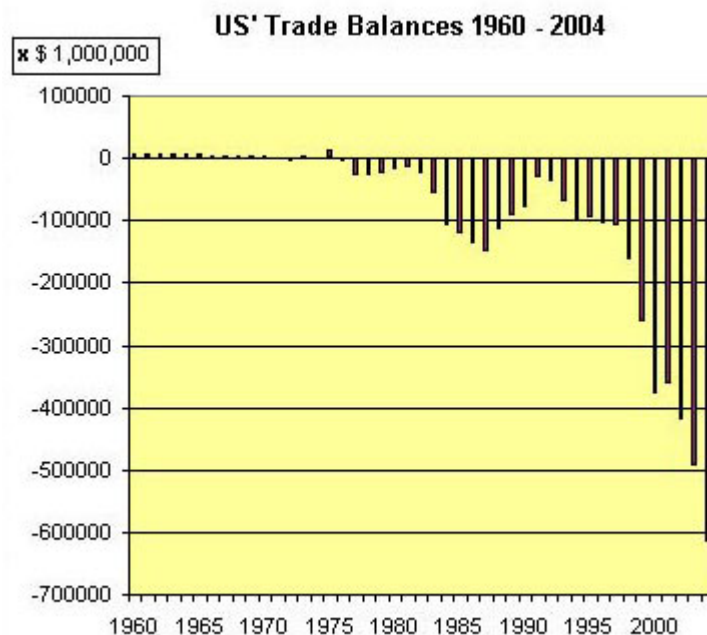

If you want your Messiah to appear, and fulfill the ancient plan of The Revealing, first you have to whip up a global economic collapse. That might seem like a tall challenge, even impossible.

Or is it?

Remember that by many accounts, if the US attacks Iran, gasoline prices would likely skyrocket to $5 a gallon or more. This could trigger exactly the kind of worldwide economic problems that Svali is referring to as the precursors to "The Revealing".

More and more articles are coming out about how the entire money system is built out of thin air, and far more perilous and unstable than we might ever believe. There are tons of articles online about this when you start poking around in the alternative news.

Here's one of any number of examples:

When we need more money, we just print more bills, and further cause inflation to skyrocket. Everyone senses, on a gut level, how unstable it is, but no one would genuinely like to see it collapse.

(Make sure to read the whole article, as before the end I give a scientific reason, derived from Chaos and Complexity Theory, to believe that it will not, and in fact CANNOT collapse - at least not anywhere near to the degree that "Family" thinks they can produce.)

Now that we have seen, and heard, direct testimony that "Family" is making a "HUGE push" towards The Revealing, it should be obvious that the disclosure of Jesus' Tomb would be a vital predecessor to this process. You may still think this is all paranoid tinfoil-hat nonsense, and in fact that is PRECISELY what they are counting on in order for the plan to work.

Again, as we have now made clear, there is a great deal of circumstantial evidence supporting the idea that these "Illuminati" believe themselves to be the blood descendants of Jesus Christ.

Think about it. If you want the public to support the idea that you are descendants of Jesus' bloodline, they would need 'proof' that Jesus really had children first. Svali says the "Family," as it is called, is heavily woven throughout Hollywood, and their ideas find a path into many films. Now James Cameron, one of top-grossing film directors of all time thanks to Titanic, makes this announcement... AFTER the film that lays out the whole case is already finished and ready to be released to the masses.

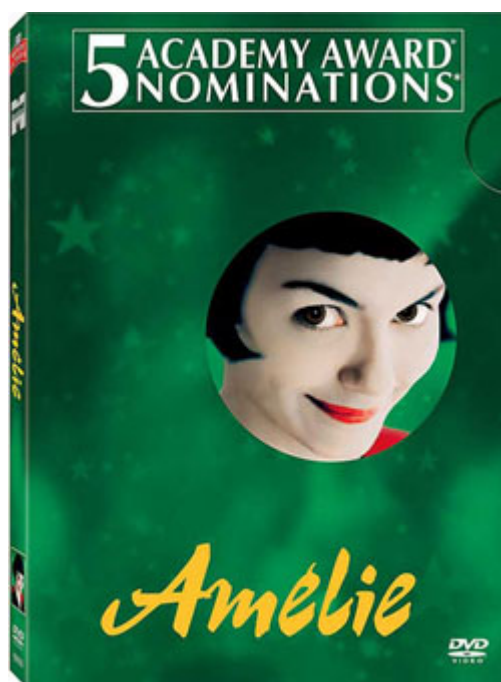

Even more interestingly, this enormous press conference occurs the very next day after Hollywood's own version of the Super Bowl - namely the Academy Awards!

Did this give insiders a chance to meet and discuss, in a noisy, private, elite public gala event, the news that just broke that previous Friday, and how it moves their plans forward? There might have only been a few in the whole show who actually were 'Family,' but the timing IS interesting.

Since the whole announcement happened so suddenly, in the midst of major distractions with Oscar weekend and the Anna Nicole and Britney Spears scandals, there is very little time or attention for effective counter-arguments to be waged. [Not in my case. I've had no life but this computer since I put it all together.]

The Da Vinci Code might have been an attempt to warm the public up to the idea that Jesus and Mary Magdalene were married, had children, and their bloodline still survives. At the end of the Da Vinci Code film, the beloved Audrey Tautou, star of the breakthrough and heartwarming French film "Amelie," is revealed to be a direct descendant of Jesus.

It was a fitting choice, considering that "Amelie" was all about a person whose life is touched with Divine, marvelous synchronicity.

Think about it.

Assume that the "Family" is real, that Svali's testimony is factual. You set the stage with a product like Da Vinci Code first, give it some time to seep in, and then you bring out the hard proof that you found 'Jesus Dust' in a coffin. What happens when you lift some DNA from the Jesus Dust, and then do blood tests to 'confirm' (the whole thing could be an elaborate hoax) that these world leaders are, in fact, his descendants?

Get it?

'Family' doesn't believe you're smart enough to figure this one out.

You can prove them wrong by waking up, taking the rather hard swallow that comes with putting it together, and rebuilding your worldview based on a new truth - the fact that you have been LIED to for your entire life. And your parents. And THEIR parents. And so on - for hundreds of generations. It seems absolutely beyond imagination, and that's what "Family" is counting on... that you're too weak and naive to ever be able to stomach the fact that this is REAL.

Let's think a little more about the big setup that appears to be coming our way. Since most of us believe that Jesus ranks much higher than we do, spiritually speaking,

- How would we feel if we were introduced to his living descendants?
- Would those descendants not seem far More than Human as a result, even if the 'masses' were no longer really 'into' Christianity?
- Would those descendants not seem BETTER than human?

Think.

BLOODLINES OF THE HOLY GRAIL

In this next excerpt from the interview, Svali talks about bloodlines in the Family, and how important it is that they not intermarry with people outside the group.

This is precisely what we would expect if they were trying to protect a lineage as impressive as that of the blood of Jesus himself:

GS: ...you know, you write a story, "The End of the Illuminati." How do we get rid of these people? I know, you're out of it. You couldn't take it any more. You think we can inspire more mid-level people to just LEAVE, like you, so they have no one to DO this kind of INSIDIOUS... CRAZY... PROGRAMMING and lifestyle! What do you - what do you think?

SV: Well, I believe that, as strongly as a Christian, that it's a spiritual warfare as well as an emotional and psychological warfare. I believe that, by the grace of God.

But I will also say that when I was in the group, a lot of the members are not happy. You have people in the group that are there because they love it, because they believe in our goals, they are totally dedicated. But to be honest, a lot... I often knew as many people who would have left in a minute if they thought that they could get out, and make it.

GS: You know, about your husband, uh, just to break in and then go back into that. Do they marry you to somebody in the group, or is that forced on you?

SV: (crosstalk) Yeah. Yeah. No. In the group, the marriages are always arranged, in my experience. In my 38 years in the group, I never knew of a couple, in the Illuminati, that did not have an arranged marriage. It can't be...

GS: (crosstalk) You just mentioned a couple that I, I suspect. Clinton and uh, Bill and Hillary.

SV: Oh, well, YEAH! (Laughs)

GS: (Laughs)

SV: YES! Definite. Definite.

GS: Yes. Bill?

SV: Yeah.

GS: Go ahead.

SV: Yeah. A lot of times, these marriages are arranged for compatibility, but also for bloodlines - to bring the right bloodlines together.

I do also remember seeing an article, about two years ago, in which research concluded that in every Presidential election, the victor could always be determined by which candidate had more 'royal' blood in his ancestry. You may also recall, during the Presidential run between Bush and Kerry, that research turned up showing that they were both distant cousins.

This comes straight out of the mainstream London Guardian news service:

"Candidates have same Essex ancestor

Julian Borger in Washington
Tuesday September 21, 2004
The Guardian

It is perhaps not surprising that the battle between George Bush and John Kerry has turned so nasty - it is, after all, a family affair. Both men are descendants of the same Essex man.

Their common ancestor was a member of the minor Essex gentry called Edmund Reade who was born and died in Wickford without ever seeing the New World his offspring would fight over 400 years later.

However, Reade's daughters, Elizabeth and Margaret, both sailed to New England with their mother, probably in the 1630s. Both had married into powerful families, Winthrop and Lake, who ultimately begot the two presidential candidates...

The Essex connection is the closest bloodline linking the candidates, but they have seven other common ancestors."

None of this is an accident. The more you research, the more you find.

Why?

Because it's TRUE.

A 'REVEALING' SERIES OF MISHAPS - IRAN IS A NO-GO

This "Revealing" may very well be planned, but as I have expected for so long, it will be plagued with ever-increasing problems - as our world is basically not docile enough to accept the enslavement that "Family" would hope to introduce.

As was ALSO revealed in the mainstream media this past weekend, the top generals of the US military would rather resign than carry out orders from the Bush Administration to attack Iran!

This article emerged on the Drudge Report over the weekend - I remember reading it - and it should have been HUGE news, but now I cannot find it in any of Drudge's archives. Very curious. I searched HARD, but it was just GONE.

UPDATE... I made a painstaking search through the entire last week of my History cache (the Internet Explorer no longer lets you go through History a day at a time, making it far more cumbersome) and FOUND the article that has just disappeared from all known existence in American media, even though it should be a huge story.

None of the wire services have this, even though it's right there online:

US generals 'will quit' if Bush orders Iran attack
Michael Smith and Sarah Baxter,
Washington
(Sunday, February 25, 2007)

SOME of America's most senior military commanders are prepared to resign if the White House orders a military strike against Iran, according to highly placed defense and intelligence sources.

Tension in the Gulf region has raised fears that an attack on Iran is becoming increasingly likely before President George Bush leaves office. The Sunday Times has learnt that up to five generals and admirals are willing to resign rather than approve what they consider would be a reckless attack.

"There are four or five generals and admirals we know of who would resign if Bush ordered an attack on Iran," a source with close ties to British intelligence said. "There is simply no stomach for it in the Pentagon, and a lot of people question whether such an attack would be effective or even possible."

A British defense source confirmed that there were deep misgivings inside the Pentagon about a military strike. "All the generals are perfectly clear that they don't have the military capacity to take Iran on in any meaningful fashion. Nobody wants to do it and it would be a matter of conscience for them.

"There are enough people who feel this would be an error of judgment too far for there to be resignations." A generals' revolt on such a scale would be unprecedented. "American generals usually stay and fight until they get fired," said a Pentagon source. Robert Gates, the defense secretary, has repeatedly warned against striking Iran and is believed to represent the view of his senior commanders.

The threat of a wave of resignations coincided with a warning by Vice-President Dick Cheney that all options, including military action, remained on the table. He was responding to a comment by Tony Blair that it would not "be right to take military action against Iran".

IT'S NOT GOING TO WORK AS PLANNED

The story goes on and on from there, but now you've got the gist of it. We're now seeing open, mainstream media sources in Britain revealing that the US military is on the brink of an unprecedented mutinous rebellion against the elite's plans to try to drive us to the brink of chaos.

As we have been saying, the projected invasion of Iran may be the final, post 9/11 component that 'Family' feels will create the proper shifts to directly lead into "The Revealing" - complete with there being a Battle of Armageddon in a Biblically-proper area of the world.

The recent disclosures of Leo Zagami, again on Greg Szymanski's www.arcticbeacon.com website, come from an even higher level within the group.

You can still find websites online that track his Family-sponsored music career:

It doesn't make any sense that he would go forward with pages and pages of documents, and all sorts of whistle-blower testimony where he is dangerously naming names, unless he was absolutely serious about what he was doing. In this next picture, which we have increased in size for emphasis, you can see his album cover under the pseudonym Lee Tong.

The album is called Lee Tong: The Poor Brother of Pete.

[It may or may not be significant that this record was released in Japan, and one of their words for human excrement is pronounced Puh-Tong (Pete Tong?). The word is a phonetic derivation of the sound of feces hitting the water in a toilet. The whole thing could have been intended as a silly joke Japanese people might figure out.]

If you look closely, you'll see how Leo's eye makeup is loaded with Egyptian / Illuminist symbolism - namely the Eye of Horus - and his hair forms devil-like horns. We can safely assume he was well within the group at this point and had no intentions of leaving:

While Leo is relatively new on the scene, and the quality of his own written literature does not yet compare with Svali's, he is cranking out reams of data, and multiple radio appearances you can download for free on Arctic Beacon. Whether you believe it or not, he is clearly putting himself at risk, and has already had trouble result from his disclosures - which would be career suicide if he were really trying to make it in music.

2012 IS 'IT'?

This is Leo's personal quest, born of frustration with the whole agenda - exactly as we would expect more and more members to be feeling. Leo claims that the group is VERY well aware of the 2012 event horizon, at least at the uppermost levels (which mid-level people like Svali might not have access to)... and that they are planning their biggest moves for approximately 2010.

Part of what you'll read in my book is that there is a wealth of new 'whistleblower' leaks coming out, from black-ops insiders, and EVERYONE is saying "2012 is IT." This seems so staggering to most people that I'm writing a whole book about it, from multiple perspectives. It will have much new information that simply does not exist anywhere else... yet. I do not see this as doom or apocalypse at all... that's a very important point.

2012 might seem like a long time off until you realize that we're already in 2007 right now. If you want total chaos by 2010, you'd better start revving up the engines beforehand. Leo has said the plans call for an endgame war with China, and creating a major problem in Iran could directly pave the way for such an otherwise-unthinkable scenario.

THROWING DOWN THE FINAL CARDS IN THE GAME

Tomorrow we'll tie all of this back in to our discussion of the Judeo-Christian mythos - but now we see that there are some very important changes happening in that script! No words can be strong enough to emphasize the historic importance of the "proof" for the idea of a Bloodline of Jesus being finally made mainstream - complete with the coffins, the DNA, the evidence, the whole thing...

This is probably the last big card 'Family' has to play in order to try to gain legitimacy in the public eye - or at least one of the last. What could possibly top it? Ancient family documents? Forgeries. Shroud of Turin? Already exists. Blood samples from the Shroud? Perhaps... but at this point they're already suggesting they have the DNA evidence they need.

Granted, they COULD somehow 'leak' the Dead Sea Scrolls, and utterly flatten the authenticity of the New Testament as it stands now. That might be the ONLY card left to play - but that still wouldn't help the case of them being Jesus' bloodline, at least not with any direct DNA evidence. What you're seeing right now, with Jesus' Tomb, is IT.

- What do you think?
- Is it going to work?
- Or are too many people now seeing through the lies?

Don't forget that the mafia, or Cosa Nostra, was once a secret organization, but now everyone is talking about it. Someday, the situation we're now in will undoubtedly be 'common knowledge' as well.

PART OF THE COSMIC PLAN - A MIRROR OF OUR COLLECTIVE SHADOW SIDE

I should point out that I've been aware of the 'negative elite' and their plans since the early 1990s, and they were discussed extensively in the Law of One series, a body of philosophical material that I consider as credible. I don't get riled up about the negative elite or feel threatened by them, because for years now I have seen that this is all part of a grander plan for humanity's evolution.

Ultimately, the "negative elite" are there to mirror back our shadow side. Each of us has darkness that we don't want to face, but we lie to ourselves and act like it really doesn't matter. Until we choose to see that it DOES matter, and that we would be well advised to try to improve how we think and behave towards ourselves and others, this problem in the world will continue.

The simple act of waking up, on a mass level, insures that the power base of this group will crumble. This story of the revolt of the top generals is just another example of how the "best laid plans" never work out as they were intended to. Why? Because people are waking up.

They may think they could herd people into prison camps, or micro-chip the entire population. The recent Aaron Russo video on Prison Planet is required viewing if you haven't already seen it, and I've watched the entire one-hour film and can tell you that all the most important data is in the free online version.

You can watch it as a video link within the following article, the first two paragraphs of which I have quoted:

"Hollywood director and documentary film maker Aaron Russo has gone in-depth on the astounding admissions of Nick Rockefeller, who personally told him that the elite's ultimate goal was to create a micro-chipped population and that the war on terror was a hoax, Rockefeller having predicted an "event" that would trigger the invasions of Iraq and Afghanistan eleven months before 9/11.

Rockefeller also told Russo that his family's foundation had created and bankrolled the women's liberation movement in order to destroy the family and that population reduction was a fundamental aim of the global elite."

I honestly believe that after all the movies we've seen about human injustice, they simply could never find enough people who would be willing to hold the guns, when push came to shove.

Svali revealed that even within the 'Family' itself, there would be a 'mass exodus' out of the group if people thought they could escape - and live. Most of these people are NOT really into it - they were born in, and they have no choice but to stay in. This may be one of the most substantial points of all.

The group itself lacks the internal fidelity to succeed.

WHY "FAMILY" CANNOT COLLAPSE THE ECONOMY

There IS a scientific case to be made that if an economic collapse does occur, perhaps by premeditated design, it won't damage most of us, but would actually have more of a cleansing effect than anything else. By "cleansing" I mean that systems that RESTRICT freedom and movement - like the negative elite - crumble and fall away.

If you investigate the science of Chaos Theory, you will come across the theory of Complex Adaptive Systems. This science is very recent and obviously has not permeated the ranks of "Family." When a group of people get together and form an economy as large as the global marketplace, you have a system whose properties remained mysterious to us until recently, with the advent of super-computers that can analyze the behaviors of a huge system.

We now know that the more a system like this is driven towards instability, the more likely it is that it will suddenly re-arrange into a higher level of order. These changes CANNOT be predicted or scripted, but they do occur.

Just below you will find quotes from reputable scientists regarding this research, and its impact for all of us.

Here is a simple example: you have a pile of sand forming from a trickle-feed up top. As the pile rises in height, it becomes more and more unstable - it enters into Chaos. When the chaos reaches its peak of instability, scientists now have concluded that you CANNOT predict the speed or direction of movement of ANY particle in the system.

The ENTIRE SYSTEM takes on a bizarre, UNPREDICTABLE behavior where it acts as a WHOLE, not as a sequence of individual grains. There is a sudden shift, and the pile restructures itself. The pile does not collapse into a flat pancake - it just changes shape.

Here is an excerpt from a page within a nicely-worded, relatively easy to understand website about this exciting new science. Of course you have to wade through some scientific geek-speak, so don't focus on every word - just skim it and get the gist of what is being said. The link is to the main page, which you should read first if interested.

There are THOUSANDS of resources where you can research this material, but this is a good one to start with: "A complex adaptive system (CAS) is a complex system that has the ability to not only respond to the outside environment, but one that can adapt itself to become more efficient within its given environment. Basically, this means a system which can learn.

All forms of life are complex adaptive systems. Plants grow towards the light, animals seek out food, and humans work to develop their career to give them a better advantage, and better income than the other people about them.

Complex Adaptive Systems are formed by a number (usually large) of individual autonomous agents interacting intensely together [like human beings forming the global economy].

This creates complex non-linear interactions that allow the emergence of new properties for the system that could not have been predicted beforehand.

The new patterns are often system-wide.

When human beings get together they form cultures and languages. [These are additional examples of complex adaptive systems in action...]

This body of information, of which the above quote is just a starting point, is the scientific PROOF for why "Family" will never "Bring Down the Internet," or collapse the world's economy.

Both of these entities are complex adaptive systems.

Each person has the potential to restructure the economy, and as long as the sun rises and sets, birds fly, rain falls, trees grow, et cetera, we have the resources to continue to persevere. WE are a complex adaptive system, and "Family" does not have anywhere near as much control over that system as they would like to believe.

The Powers that Be earnestly think they can 'fund both sides' of a conflict so that whomever 'wins' is still on their side, but now with the Internet you have guys like Matt Drudge, Perez Hilton and Dylan Avery of "Loose Change" (the 9/11 documentary) who are sole agents, NOT on either side, but gaining massive publicity.

In the case of someone like Perez, we're not really seeing any kind of constructive content - and he's being sued by everyone in the entertainment industry, it seems, in the hopes of shutting down the site completely. However, his site is already more popular than ANY of the corporate television news broadcasts, in the world, in terms of the number of people tuning in. He's now clearing five million unique visitors in a day, on certain days, and was the eleventh most-searched term on Yahoo last week, as you can see in my article from two days ago.

The real point is that the old-school paradigm of the 'Family' simply CANNOT hold true in a complex adaptive system that is filled to the bursting-point with independent, free-acting agents, any one of which could have a cascading, massive, unprecedented effect upon the entire system.

The Revealing is not what they think it will be.

You are experiencing it. Right now.

Part II

The Proof in the Plunge

February 28, 2007

Just two days ago, 'Titanic' director James Cameron sent shockwaves around the world when he revealed "scientific proof" that Jesus was married to Mary Magdalene and they had at least one child named Judah.

Is there a hidden connection between this event and the massive economic collapse that happened the very next day - which was the biggest in over five years, since the supposed 'inside job' of 9/11?

As we saw in Part I, what most people may not realize is that Cameron's conference could very well have been be an "endgame" maneuver of the so-called New World Order or Illuminati, setting the stage for a 'bloodless surrender' of humanity to their rule – physically AND spiritually.

The very next day after the conference, a massive financial collapse took place – the worst since the 9/11 attacks. (See the article's end for reference.) Over half a trillion dollars of wealth was cashed out from the markets in a single day.

This provides staggering proof that my initial hypothesis was correct. It is a hypothesis based on extensive first-hand testimony from former Illuminati members, including 'Svali', Leo Zagami and others.

What exactly was the hypothesis, you ask?

Namely that the announcement of Jesus' Tomb was the beginning of a well-orchestrated plan, called "The Revealing," in which this shadowy group comes out of hiding to unveil their identity to the world. This plan begins with a deliberate, engineered collapse of our global economy, "intended to make the Great Depression look like a Sunday school picnic" by comparison. Soften up the 'sheep,' leave them pliable and weeping for rescue, then introduce yourselves as God's direct descendants and the Saviors of Humanity.

Once the greater body of Illuminati members and other well-informed insiders, such as China's financial elite, saw this press conference happen, they may have realized that This Is It. An inner Pavlovian bell rang like a gong in their minds, as they knew the Endgame sequence of the New World Order was now officially underway.

If so, then the massive sell-off we just witnessed may be the result of these insiders panicking and pulling their money out – 632 BILLION dollars' worth, in one day – before this orchestrated financial collapse formally starts. It was a knee-jerk reaction of simple greed and fear, on a scale most of us could never conceive of.

AN AMAZINGLY WELL-KEPT SECRET

"Wait a minute," you say. "If Cameron's conference was an inside job, why didn't the OTHER insiders know about it in advance?"

The answer is simple: extremely high security, on a strict need-to-know basis - and VERY few people needed to know precisely WHEN this was going to be done. That way it is far less likely to be leaked in advance, such as by disgruntled members of the group, who are now more and more becoming 'whistleblowers' and spilling the beans.

Cameron's announcement of Jesus' Tomb was an amazingly well-kept secret. Not one person involved in the making of the film, the book or any stage of the production process ever leaked a word about it to the press. In today's world, with all the cast and crew involved in such a production, this is almost unimaginable.

I have already discussed it with a couple of my Hollywood associates and they cannot understand how this possibly could have been accomplished - particularly because the film is arguably as substantial an attack against conventional Western religious thought as 9/11 was against conventional American society.

What might be next?

As we said Monday in Part I, a haphazard US-Israeli strike against Iran, possibly in response to a fake 'terrorist' provocation, might be the final trigger for this orchestrated economic disaster. It is widely believed that an attack on Iran would drive gasoline prices to 5 dollars a gallon or more.

NOT SO FAST...

However, there are two problems.

First of all, up to five different top generals in the US military told the British mainstream media they will resign, spontaneously, if they were handed orders to attack Iran. They know it's a suicide move and cannot justify such a radically stupid decision.

Secondly, as we said on Monday, new advances in Chaos and Complexity Theory reveal that our global economy is, in fact, a "Complex Adaptive System." This means that it CANNOT collapse, beyond a minimal, short-term degree that would be insufficient to fulfill the New World Order plan. When you drive a Complex Adaptive System into a peak moment of instability, it spontaneously re-arranges into a higher level of order.

This might sound like Ordo Ab Chao ("Order out of Chaos", a central Illuminist belief we discuss below) in action, but with the benefit of supercomputer technology, the ancient wisdom has a surprising new twist – namely that the outcome CANNOT be predicted in advance.

Any one member of that system could become a key focal-point for the new, higher-level structure - and the changes are often system-wide in scope.

Though it sounds crazy, scientists have actually run supercomputer simulations of a pile of sand as it forms. They calculate the position of each particle, where it is likely to move next, and how fast it will move there. As the system becomes more and more unstable, suddenly ALL the particles mysteriously merge into a whole. They are no longer separate grains of sand - they are One.

After this (ahem) CONVERGENCE happens, there is no possible way that the computer can predict the position, direction or speed of movement for ANY one particle.

All they DO know is that a little avalanche happens, and the sand-pile RE-ARRANGES itself, spontaneously, into a higher level of order. The ENTIRE SYSTEM transforms into something more organized, more advanced.

The SYSTEM behaves like a LIVING ORGANISM, and it LEARNS from its own past.

Think 2012... and you might not be as crazy as your friends, family, neighbors, colleagues and pets would believe. You might just be seeing the ultimate Strange Attractor - a Chaos Theory term - that is coming, in TIME.

And remember... ANY MEMBER of that system might become SINGULARLY PIVOTAL in the way it reforms.

[That means YOU.]

The sand-pile setup is a very simple example of something that is far vaster in scope - particularly when dealing with global economics. There has NEVER been a global economic collapse, and in fact we now know it is simply not possible - not more than a little avalanche 'hiccup' that will pave the way to a newer, stronger, healthier system.

Part Three of this article, which may be ready tomorrow, will focus even more on Hope. The email response to Part I has been overwhelming, (and we thank you,) but at the same time, everyone is asking,

- What now?
- Where do we go from here?
- How does knowing all this not just turn into a bottomless pit of worry, fear and anger?

As we move forward, we will provide compelling scientific evidence that all is not lost, and these events are in fact positive, because it will ultimately unify our planet and trigger a global awakening.

THE EYE IS FALLING! THE EYE IS FALLING!

If you want the proof that the New World Order is falling apart as we speak, look at what is happening to all their major sources of revenue, which insider testimony reveals they have infiltrated for various purposes of controlling our society while profiting at the same time:

- The newspaper industry is in terminal decay. In the old days you put moles in the papers, threatened and blackmailed senior management not to release damaging stories, and kept 'spin control' in place. Now we know that one of the newspapers' top revenue sources was the classified ads, and there has been a massive migration to the all-free Craigslist service.
- The book-publishing industry, as I just found out in a meeting I had yesterday, is in very serious trouble. One of the largest distributing companies is going belly-up, and the blowback to publishers will amount to a serious revenue hit - at least 10 percent less profit on every sale, in the immediate future. Purchases at bookstores are way, way down, as everyone is now predominantly ordering online at sites like Amazon. The wreck of corporate fat-cat publishers is being outsold by smaller companies producing enlightening new products.
- Broadcast television is losing viewers, and advertising revenue, at a horrifying speed. By not discussing it in the media very much, they are hoping not to accelerate the problem. They have to convince their advertisers that it is still a worthwhile investment, even as TiVo and DVD usage is increasingly eliminating commercials from most people's daily media diet.

- The Hollywood film industry is collapsing, forcing it to release far fewer big-budget features than in the past. Indie films like "What the Bleep" and "The Secret" are becoming runaway hits because they talk about concepts the mainstream doesn't want people knowing - the old-school metaphysical truism that "you create your own reality". Illuminati-funded hyper-violent movies, with no uplifting or spiritually nourishing content, are falling on their faces left and right, because people simply do not want to see something that will not make them feel good.
- The music industry has become a pathetic parody of its heyday in the 70s and early 80s, with CD sales plummeting to abysmal new lows and revenues being utterly destroyed by illegal downloading.
- Britney Spears: Hundreds of millions of dollars had been invested into Britney Spears to make her into the next Madonna, and unless she has a miraculous rehabilitation, that investment has now been totally wasted. This is not unlike:
- Tom Cruise: Even greater funds were invested into Tom Cruise by the movie industry than into Britney, but again his reputation was permanently destroyed by his Scientology-oriented stunts - and Sumner Redstone, the head of one of the great Family media companies, personally fired Cruise himself. [Cruise was brought out at the Oscars and did nothing to poke fun at himself - an apologetic attempt to regain some respect.]

Sumner Redstone
CBS BOSS

- The Iraq war has been a disaster, compared to what was expected to happen. No substantial oil has been pulled out - the pipelines keep getting blown up by the resistance. Its only value now is as a strategic Middle East base.
- The pharmaceutical industry is horrified that people are starting to get healthier - eating more organics, less artery-clogging fast-food garbage thanks to best-selling documentaries like Super Size Me, less cigarette smoking (voluntary population control), and increasingly switching over to alternative and homeopathic remedies rather than good-old high-dollar prescription meds.
- The soda-pop industry products consumed HALF of the entire warehouse storage area when I had a soda merchandising job at a conventional grocery store back in 1998. Coca-Cola is a MAJOR 'Family' business. Now they're desperately spending hundreds of millions on nifty Super Bowl commercials in a last-minute ploy to seduce people away from spritzers, teas, juices and just plain bottled water, each of which are being sold by tons of different companies, most of which are NOT 'Family' owned.
- The pornography industry has become totally democratized thanks to the Internet, vastly reducing the revenues that were possible when insiders secretly pulled the strings from the top. Now private companies are diverting large portions of the revenue.
- The illegal drug industry is getting crippled by more and more people getting sober, thanks to sites like Perez Hilton making a mockery out of celebrities' addictions, pointing out how horribly destructive they are - Perez is allegedly a recovering meth addict himself. Drug-related deaths like Anna Nicole Smith, and freak-outs like Britney's head-shaving episode, further inspire people to sober up.
- The auto industry can no longer push increasingly obese Americans to drive increasingly obese vehicles, with increasingly thirsty gas tanks. Toyota and Honda are the top manufacturers, and they are NOT 'Family' owned companies. Hybrid vehicles are the hottest new thing in town. Auto companies that ARE 'Family' owned are on the brink of total bankruptcy.
- Attacking Iran is like a heroin junkie trying to get one last fix - and there is nowhere near enough military power to pull it off. The men most knowledgeable about this fact - the military generals - are refusing to fight because they know it's impossible to succeed.

All of these are industries that the New World Order has infiltrated in their attempts to rule the world, and reap fantastic profits - and they are all in free-fall. The advent of free online video upload/download services like YouTube is as revolutionary a change as the dawning of the Internet itself - and you can hear the screaming of the Old World Order's media industries as they bleed money, frantically gasping for breath, paddling like crazy and trying not to drown.

Simultaneously, they have to complain in a way that doesn't tip you off to what's really going on - namely that this is all a GOOD thing, and our economy, as a Complex Adaptive System, will quickly heal into a much better organism once we 'detox' and shed these centralized corporate industries in favor of a more genuinely competitive marketplace.

Notice also the high-profile lawsuits from old-media companies against runaway one-man success stories like Perez Hilton.com. [I do not support the bashing and name-calling behavior at all, I must say.]

The devil is in the details - and you find the truth buried in the legalese:

4 22. The said wrongful acts of Defendants have caused, and are causing, great 5 damage to Plaintiff, which damage cannot be accurately computed, and therefore,
6 unless this Court restrains Defendants from further commission of said acts, Plaintiff
7 will suffer irreparable injury, for which it is without an adequate remedy at law.

The Perez Hilton site, which each of three lawsuits want completely removed, is getting upwards of five million unique visitors a day, at times - two million more than the number of people watching the top corporate news broadcasts on television.

What they don't realize is that there are hundreds of others waiting to take its place if one falls:

Thank You From Head to Toe

What a wild week it's been!

On Monday (a U.S. Holiday) we set a traffic record, and we broke it yet again on Thursday.

In that 24 hour period, according to our Sitemeter statistics, we had 6.08 million page views and 5.12 million unique visitors from all over the world.

Those numbers remained almost the same on Friday.

The Drudge Report is hated even more, as the efforts of ONE MAN are now earning FIFTEEN MILLION HITS A DAY - which vastly outnumbers ANY other media source on the planet. Matt Drudge is NOT under New World Order control. I have seen reliable insider reports of how much they hate his guts!

Look behind the scenes and really UNDERSTAND what is going on here, rather than curling up in baseless animal fear and thinking the Big Bad Wolf is going to blow your house down.

It's precisely the opposite - and I am very surprised that hardly ANY of the government-conspiracy writers are seeing the obvious. They still act like we're in real danger, and at this point that's just silly.

Furthermore, giving the Illuminati your fear and obsessive focus — "Sound the Alarm! Write Letters! March in the Streets! The Sky is Falling! The Sky is Falling!" — is a very real form of WORSHIP.

This is why I do not read their words much anymore.

They are so dissociated from the reality of how close the whole game is to TOTAL collapse that they have, in effect, become Cheerleaders of Fear rather than Liberators of Truth.

I have been having dreams, showing me how the whole thing is going down, for years now. I was waiting until the proper moment to start discussing it, and now is the time. On a spiritual level, I have been shown that negative entities use fear to sustain themselves like we use food, water and sunlight. Without it, they quickly go hungry, and lose power. That is part of why Steven Colbert's blatant lampooning of Bush at the White House Correspondent's Dinner, and later O'Reilly, right on his home turf, was so masterful.

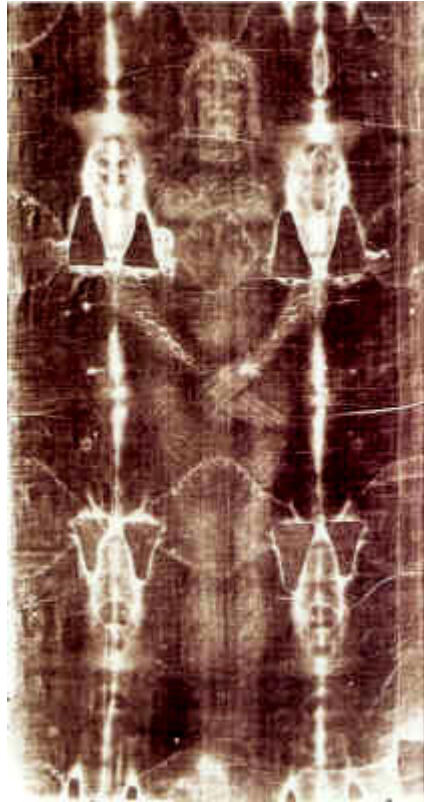

Each of these episodes of genius can now be seen on YouTube:

The insiders are constantly, pathetically attacking these videos and trying to get them pulled down, so any links I give you may not last. However, there are so many copies around that they can't stop them all, so just do a search and you'll find gold.

NEW SCIENTIFIC BREAKTHROUGHS ABOUT JESUS AND 'ASCENSION'

Furthermore, as we head into future updates in the days ahead, we're going to show you the stunning, never-before-seen scientific breakthroughs that provide new evidence - far more documented and rigorous than Cameron's research - showing that the body of the man Jesus actually DID spontaneously release a massive electrostatic discharge across its entire surface, leaving a photographic-negative imprint in the Shroud of Turin.

This image was burned into the Shroud, on a film less than one tenth as thick as a human hair, and contains all the information for a full three-dimensional holographic reconstruction of Jesus' head.

This is completely impossible by any known method of forgery - or by any other natural process we know of.

The age of the shroud was supposedly set to 1290-1360 AD by three different carbon-dating teams in 1988, but in the last three years, that has been completely debunked by reputable members of the scientific community - and astonishing new evidence for the crucifixion and light-body transformation of a human body at the dawn of the First Millennium, in precise accordance with Biblical accounts of Jesus and recent archeological discoveries, has emerged.

GRAB YOUR REYNOLDS WRAP...

In case you didn't read Part One, you're probably at least scratching your head at this point, if not thinking that I'm a "total wack job."

Grab your Reynolds Wrap and let me show you where to fold - because you're about to go down the rabbit hole, my friend, and you'd better wear your hat.

If you are saying to yourself, "How could the announcement of Jesus' Tomb possibly set the stage for a 'bloodless surrender' to the New World Order", then you're on the right track.

Without seeing all the information – as I laid out in Part I, BEFORE the economic collapse on Black Tuesday – you SHOULD be skeptical. I HIGHLY recommend you read Part I, since it is filled to the bursting-point with links and documentation.

As I wrote before, and will now again summarize, the members of the New World Order likely believe themselves to be the blood descendants of Jesus – and feel they have the documents to prove it.

Thanks to Cameron's disclosure, they may now also have the DNA evidence from Jesus' tomb that they can compare against their own blood and 'prove' their connection.

[Of course, just like the faked story of WMDs in Iraq, this "Jesus Dust" could well be a fraud, deliberately planted from a corpse of a common ancestor of theirs. Given how this group operates, that might even be MORE likely than that it is actually genuine dust from the remains of Jesus.]

Cast in this light, the Da Vinci Code book and movie could well be a vital instrument to prepare the public for this eventual 'Revealing' that insiders have said is being planned.

At the end of the Da Vinci Code film, we discover that beloved actress Audrey Tautou is one of Jesus' descendants.

- Now did you happen to notice the reflection on her eye in the image above?
- Or are you just another one of the 'sheep,' the slumbering masses, who missed the Triangle of Light that surrounds it?
- Hm... the Eye in a Triangle. Isn't that the ultimate symbol of the Illuminati, as a representation of the All-Seeing Eye of Horus?

How would most people react if they discovered that these great-great-grandchildren of Jesus were already the most powerful people in the world, and just had been keeping their secret all this time, allegedly to escape persecution from Christians?

The Illuminati may well be banking on the fact (pun intended,) that we will instinctively gravitate towards them for guidance and support – particularly if we are in the midst of an absolute hell-storm that they have artificially created first. Or so they think - even though no one's ever accomplished the creation of a global economic collapse before, and the Complex Adaptive Systems discoveries essentially prove that it CANNOT happen - at least not for very long.

Furthermore, part of their weakness is that they can't help but drop these tasty little hints of what they're really up to, hiding it right out in broad daylight. They are so convinced that you are too dumb, or scared, to figure it out that they put it right in front of your face. Putting a triangle of light around the character Sophie's eye is such a blatant telegraphing of what they intend to reveal that it's like a child who can't keep a secret, so he tells you while holding his hand over his mouth, as if you won't hear it - but he just can't resist.

Furthermore, if you go into Photoshop, in Images / Adjustments / Curves, and tweak the movie poster until you can comfortably see Audrey's hair, then you discover that both of her eyes are beaming with light - the "Enlightenment" of the "Illuminati," or "Illumined Ones".

This light is projecting upwards, meaning that it is on a rising, higher level:

And if you really have your tinfoil hat on good and strong, you might notice a subliminal face in the smoke cloud to the far left, which looks curiously similar to the eye socket, nose and cheekbone of Jesus in the Shroud of Turin - only more menacing and demonic in appearance. It ALSO has two rays coming from its eyes - forming beams of smoke pointing down, meaning that it is on a declining, lower level.

This could be the "demon" of Christianity that the Illuminati feel they are leaving "in the dust," or the smoke in this case - and the trend they started with the Da Vinci Code film has now been followed up with the kill-shot-Cameron's Tomb of Jesus. The only steps that remain in the plan now are to trash the economy, and then whip out the DNA evidence from the "Jesus Dust," linking them to the Bloodline.

Add water, mix and voila - you got yourself a Royal Bloody Mary. A toast to the New World Order! Oh wait, let me cash out a half trillion dollars from the stock market first, before we finish the job... wouldn't want to lose any of my precious dough that I knead to survive.

But no, I'm just being paranoid... they'd never put a creepy subliminal image in a photograph and try to play with your mind like that! Forget I even mentioned it.

ORDER OUT OF CHAOS

One of "Family's" deepest spiritual beliefs is in the principle of Ordo Ab Chao, or "Order out of Chaos". The idea is that they fund both sides of a war or conflict, let them go at it and create chaos, and then regardless of who wins the battle, they are still on the winning side.

In the process, humanity evolves into a greater level of Order. The masses never realize that the whole conflict was a sham. Those at the very top of the conspiracy treat human life as a completely disposable commodity, to further their own political ambitions.

The reason why so many people cannot grasp the fact that “9/11 Was an Inside Job” is that it is simply too sickening and terrifying for them to contemplate evil on such a grand scale. That is precisely why the game has worked for so long.

By educating yourself, taking it all in even though it hurts and may cause fear, you are throwing light on the darkness. Fear thrives on this darkness to survive. In the presence of light, the shadows cannot persist, and the power base of this group will crumble.

It is already happening at an explosive pace, as I partially documented above, and I believe we will only further see this continue. Sources of spiritual guidance I highly trust – including the Bible itself – are unanimous in stating that these plans for world domination will not succeed. The physical evidence is validating the prophecies with astonishing clarity.

In future updates that will be arriving early next week, we will go into a more detailed examination of the scientific reasons for why I feel we have nothing to fear. In the new consciousness that is coming in, with 2012 as a seeming focal point, we are seeing that there are no longer just two sides that the Illuminati can penetrate and control, so they win either way...

YOU are a side! And so is everyone else.

This is not a dangerous situation. As soon as we learn from it, the whole problem crumbles to dust. If you can see it now, and free yourself from fear, you are not lucky - you are simply being perceptive, and seeing Truth.

You may be quite surprised at how the scientific case continues to unfold, and become even MORE fascinating as we go on... and you will also see how events like the death of Anna Nicole, and Britney's meltdown, are all related to the awakening that is now happening in humanity.

We will also examine a remarkable synchronicity that popped up on Drudge Report the same day the markets collapsed, which may be a prophetic glimpse at how it will all work out... and no, I'm not talking about Bin Laden miraculously resurrecting after his death of kidney failure in December 2003 to establish new training camps, nor Cheney almost getting blown up the one and only time he visited the war zone in Iraq.

Stocks Have Worst Day Since 9/11 Attacks

by MADLEN REA

Feb 27, 7:46 PM

NEW YORK (AP) - Stocks had their worst day of trading since the Sept. 11, 2001, terrorist attacks Tuesday, hurtling the Dow Jones industrials down more than 400 points on a worldwide tide of concern that the U.S. and Chinese economies are stumbling and that share prices have become over-inflated.

The steepness of the market's drop, as well as its global breadth, signaled a possible correction after a long period of stable and steadily rising stock markets that had not been shaken by such a volatile day of trading in several years.

A 9 percent slide in Chinese stocks, which came a day after investors sent Shanghai's benchmark index to a record high close, set the tone for U.S. trading. The Dow began the day falling sharply, and the decline accelerated throughout the course of the session before stocks took a huge plunge in late afternoon as computer-driven sell programs kicked in, and also as a computer glitch caused a delay in the recording of a large number of trades.

The Dow fell 546.02, or 4.3 percent, to 12,086.06 before recovering some ground in the last hour of trading to close down 416.02, or 3.29 percent, at 12,216.24, leaving it in negative territory for the year. Because the worst of the plunge took place after 2:30 p.m., the New York Stock Exchange's trading limits, designed to halt such precipitous moves, were not activated.

The drop hit every sector across the market, and a total of $632 billion was lost in total in U.S. stocks on Tuesday, according to Standard & Poor's Corp. Riskier issues such as small-cap and technology stocks suffered some of the biggest declines, but big industrial companies, those that are often hurt the most in an economic downturn, also were pummeled, with raw materials producers among the hardest hit.

The Mars Bloodline?

Subject: [exopolitics] Rush Limbaugh and Disclosure of ET Life on Mars?

Aloha, the following story about life on Mars is very significant. David Wilcox has an excellent reputation as an accurate psychic and discovered the following concerning a little known radio show by Rush Limbaugh three years ago. Was Limbaugh given access to classified documentation confirming life on Mars, discussed this on his show, and then told to shut up?

A fascinating series of events which Wilcox believes happened, and he found evidence to confirm this. If so, then it shows that influential members of the media are being primed for the truth on ET life, if and when it is officially disclosed to the public.

This is well worth exploring further.

In peace,

Michael Salla, PhD

Every now and then there is a "glitch in the Matrix" - and someone in a position of influence lets the curtain drop, and reveals insider secrets.

Read the world-exclusive premiere of one of the more amazing examples of this, three years after it first happened... suggesting that the Powers That Be not only believe Mars was once inhabited, but think they are the descendants of this ancient race.

Rush Limbaugh

RUSH SPILLS THE BEANS... AND THE STORY IS IMMEDIATELY 'SANITIZED'

Three years ago, one of our clients alerted us to a stunning Rush Limbaugh broadcast that aired on March 4, 2004. Had this been covered by the mainstream media and discussed with any seriousness, it could well have pierced the veil of UFO secrecy and led to some form of open disclosure.

Some cynics will simply say that Rush was "joking," that the whole thing was an elaborate tongue-in-cheek attack against former VP Gore - a Democrat, and their whole platform of man-made Global Warming - tying it in with fringe elements like "Area 52", UFOs and Martians. "Return to your homes, folks, nothing to see here."

However, the problem may be that in order to do good "disinformation," you actually have to introduce some lies in to what you are saying! Rush might not have done that. His data correlates with a variety of other pieces we have put together, and this seems more than just an accident. This could explain why the insiders were not willing to “run with the ball” and acknowledge his “joke”. It was too dangerous - and might get the public asking the ‘wrong’ questions.

We first found out about it on March 15th, and by that point, any transcript of the show had already been “sanitized” from the Internet. Our client said this started within days of the broadcast. There were a few places left where you could read it, but only in the Google cache - and once those had cleared, it was gone for good. Three years later, the most detailed searches turn up absolutely no record of it ever having happened.

Keep that in mind before rushing to judgment (pun intended!) about it being “nothing more than a joke”, to ease the psychological pressure that might otherwise result. Survey the evidence supporting the TRUTH of what he said after we show you the transcript. And ask yourself why OTHER broadcasts were NOT removed from his website so quickly... only this one?

Overall, this may well be an Illuminati insider revealing some of their deepest secrets - including the total obsession with the bloodlines of the elite, a subject invariably brought up by every single whistleblower you find - and his bosses were NOT laughing. No indication was given on the webpage, or in the broadcast, of it ever being a joke, as you'll see for yourself - and it was not April Fool's Day.

When we first heard this astonishing broadcast, and read the transcript, we were really in a bind as to whether we should disclose it or not. For whatever reason, we decided not to. Such has been the case with much of the material you are now reading in "The Revealing".

We've finally decided that now is the time to come forward with this fascinating story. Our contact heard the show when it was first broadcast - apparently he liked to keep an eye on the “loyal opposition” - and he saved a copy of the HTM file from Rush's website on his hard drive. We received this file in an email on March 15, 2004, along with a digital copy of the audio that weighed in at about 1MB.

Though the HTM file did not include any of the original site graphics, it did still have a complete transcript of what Rush said. Even better, there was a link in the original HTM file to a streaming Windows Media Player version of the audio - and even though the HTM file would soon disappear from the Internet completely, the audio link still worked.

Here's a graphic of what the HTM file looks like when we open it into a browser:

Now here is the really incredible part...

On a whim, we decided to try the audio link in the original HTM file of the transcript from Rush's website. And even now, three years later, this audio STILL EXISTS on Rush's server... and it WORKS!!!

At the time of this writing, you can still listen to this broadcast yourself... straight from the source! Only when you hear the audio yourself can you make out how distressed Rush might be about what he is saying.

Even though the mind of any skeptic automatically leads them to believe Rush was “just being funny,” (as otherwise this event makes no sense to a skeptic whatsoever, and they must maintain their “grip” on “reality” at all costs,) there are at least two places where it sounds as if he is in tears as he is telling the story. You can hear distinct stress patterns in his voice as he is "telling the joke".

It could be that he was severely warned against talking, but couldn't handle the pressure of having to keep such explosive inside information a secret. He probably figures that everyone in "the herd" is SO clueless that he could drop this amazing disclosure and nothing would happen. Not everyone liked his sense of humor, apparently, as it was quickly struck off the official record... like so many other aspects of secrecy we are all now seeing on a daily basis.

We can well assume that he was "visited" after this broadcast, and given healthy threats about what would happen to him, and his family, if he ever mentioned it again. Living with such a secret, and such a threat, may even explain an increase in his drug and alcohol consumption. His staff obviously were not 'in the know' enough to see that he'd made a mistake, and cranked out the transcript before it had time to be buried down the 'memory hole'.

WHY SHOULD I CARE ABOUT ANYTHING RUSH LIMBAUGH SAYS?

Why is this story so important?

Quite simple. Rush Limbaugh came forward, on March 4, 2004, and told his listeners that he gained access to a "highly classified" top-secret document from NASA saying that Mars was once inhabited with human life, that they destroyed their planet, some of them survived and migrated to Earth.

Even more incredibly, he implies that NASA has sent secret missions to Mars and recovered DNA samples from deceased human corpses - and the DNA from these corpses "compares favorably to members of the Skull and Bones society here on Earth" - as well as top members of Halliburton, Enron, WorldCom and Boeing - each of which are companies associated with the 'Illuminati'.

Yes. If you're thinking that all the dots connect up to an "Illuminati Bloodline," then you're on the right track, my friend. As we've seen in Parts One and Two, these people are OBSESSED with bloodlines.

So look beyond the spin and see what most people would gloss over in ignorant laughter.

CAMERON'S 'TOMB OF JESUS' APPEARS TO BE A FRAUD... PREPPING THE PUBLIC FOR "THE REVEALING"

What you are about to read may be the deeper, hidden level of the story of the "Holy Grail" that is probably NOT ever planned for public disclosure - hence the immediate silencing of Rush Limbaugh, and any trace of this story, after he spilled the beans.

Granted, SOME of the Illuminati may believe themselves to be descendants of Jesus, as we've set forth in the earlier sections of this series - particularly the Merovingian line - but that may only be a ploy to sell themselves to a gullible public.

Lawrence Gardner recently came forth with a very detailed, lengthy article, making a strong case that James Cameron's whole argument is built on lies. If you get into this document, you will find that the tomb ascribed to Jesus was taken from somewhere else and then added in to the mix, as if it had been discovered in the same tomb.

Blend together a box with the common name "Jesus" crudely scrawled on it - by far the lowest in quality of any of the ossuaries (bone boxes) they found...

And now, read the transcript for yourself. We have cut-and-pasted the text out of the original HTM file.

Notice that no one ever said this was a hoax, no apology or retraction was ever given. As far as you or anyone else knew, up until now, it never even happened. When you do go back and listen to the audio, you can hear that Limbaugh is definitely under severe stress, perhaps even tears, as he is sharing this "humorous" information:

The Gore Report

March 4, 2004

Listen to Rush...

(...talk about the top secret NASA report on Mars)

BEGIN TRANSCRIPT 01:33 PM ET

RUSH: As I mentioned recently, ladies and gentlemen, after reviewing data from one of the Mars Rovers, NASA, big press conference the other day, concluded that Mars was once drenched with enough water to "support life in a good, habitable environment." I mean, this is incredible discovery and NASA is still had to go out there and say that there's no proof that life existed. All they said was that conditions were there for there to be life. But this is not all NASA said, ladies and gentlemen. There's a lot that is not being discussed here, as a powerful, influential member of the media, I know more than you do. Especially about this.

I have seen a highly classified report that has not been released publicly and it probably won't be unless you consider my talking about it here to be releasing it publicly. It's a top secret report, code name The Gore Report. It was prepared by scientists from Area 52 in New Mexico, and they analyzed the Mars data and there's some findings in this report, and I can understand why they don't want to release this, and I don't know it all, but I want to pass off what some of The Gore Report says.

There was life on Mars, that's what NASA is not being up front, there was life, everybody knows it. We can't be the only people occupying the universe. It's impossible. Who do we think we are? The only people God created - sorry, for those of you who don't believe in God - only people who evolved from apes?

So it's clear that there was life elsewhere and now that NASA has kind of let the cat out of the bag, if there were habitable conditions up there we know there was life there. In fact, they found some DNA evidence up there that compares favorably to members of the Skull and Bones Society here on earth.

These people were highly industrialized, the Martians, they were technologically superior, and they were very arrogant people. And they thought that the power and the force of their existence was all that was needed to sustain them, and they didn't care a whit about conservation; they didn't care a whit about preserving anything; they got rid of everything that was pristine.

In fact, they used the internal combustion engine. They were globalists; they got rid of all the countries on that planet and they had just one giant society, and the powerful, rich, just absorbed everything they needed from the best parts of the planet, used it for themselves and everybody basically suffered until everybody died out because what happened was there were no checks and balances.

Probably, I don't know this, probably wasn't any campaign finance reform to restrict the corruption in their elective circumstances there, and so special interest groups and multinationals who escaped taxes by, you know, forming offshore accounts.

There's no coincidence to the fact that they found water, lots of water where habitable conditions were because it dovetails with what's in the report about some of these multinationals abandoning their own countries and locating offshore for all of the nefarious reasons.

They had rain forests. You don't hear about this. They had ancient rain forests; they had jungles; they had so much oil and gas; they had reserves out the wazoo.

In fact, one of the things they found on Mars is that it's possible that there's still some there, tiny little amounts, but it's clear. You saw the pictures from Mars. I saw the skeletons, at least I saw the fossils of the skeletons.

There were people there, or there were beings there, but it looked like Pompeii, looked like these people all died huddled together, and it was just swarmed and in an instant.

Image of preserved bodies from Pompeii volcanic explosion

You know, they were one day there and then gone. So many people living close together, it has to have been the result of urban sprawl. Nobody had any space, nobody had any room, and I saw it from the pictures that they released.

It's clear, ladies and gentlemen. Mars was once the jewel of the solar system, and it was raped. Mars was raped. This is what NASA knows. This is what The Gore Report says. Mars was raped by robber barons. Capitalism, dependence on combustible engines led to global warming; the ecosystem that sustained everybody was destroyed.

That's why the water they've found is at the equator area, the ice caps melted, exactly what's happening here, folks, exactly what's happening here.

These people were advanced. Not everybody on Mars died. This is what's fascinating about this report. Not everybody on Mars died. Some were able to flee, some were able to get off the planet. This is what they can't afford to release.

UFOs, yep, all these sightings, all of these blinking lights, all these unexplained things, they're real. That's why they're calling this Area 52.

[DW: Supposedly the different 'areas' correspond to nuclear testing grounds in Nevada - but I did have one other black-ops contact who told me that some of these 'areas' are indeed off-planet.]

Those are Martians, escaping the destruction - I think this goes way back before we were alive. UFOs have been happening all over. It may well be that the bright star that guided the three wise men was a UFO.

Tax cuts absolutely were a factor. That's what the offshore thing was all about. Yeah, of course tax cuts were a factor.

[DW: Notice here that Rush still manages to read his own political biases into the story. He may have said too much that was spot-on with the truth, realized it, and suddenly had to change the subject to make it again sound more farcical.

Referring back to his earlier statements, it's not difficult to see that the world's most powerful elites would have hidden themselves away on a military-fortified 'offshore' island so they would be much harder to invade or attack. That might explain why we have not found any other areas on Mars that are as highly developed as Cydonia, with its giant pyramids and symmetrical monument in the shape of a human face.

It does make sense that if Mars was suffering from climate change, certain regions would stay pristine the longest - like the Los Angeles / coastal area being the only part of Southern California that is not now a desert, or the fact that most of the entire continent of Australia is a bleak, barren desert except for the very edges.]

But the elites got off, the elites were able to travel in space. There weren't very many of them, but they were able to get off. They fled the planet in time.

The stunning thing about the Mars report, The Gore Report, is that they're here. These people that destroyed Mars are here, they are on earth, folks.

They are in America. They work at Halliburton. They worked at Enron. They worked at WorldCom. They're at Boeing.

[DW: Notice that he starts by saying "the Mars report," and then corrects himself to say "The Gore Report," which is obviously a fake name to try to tie this in with former VP Al Gore. That may be one of the only distortions of truth in this entire presentation.]

They came to America, and The Gore Report clearly illustrates they have not learned a thing from their experiences on Mars.

The truth is out there. Far, far out there.

Read the Article... (CNN: How much water on Mars?)

So there you have it - complete with the CNN article he linked to at the end about the discovery of water on Mars.

WASHINGTON DC - A MIRROR OF 'CYDONIA' ON MARS?

Is this just a big, steaming pile of BS, a sign of Rush's quick-thinking comic genius through irony, satire and sarcasm? If there were no other evidence to the contrary, you might think so. Nonetheless, there is very clear evidence supporting the idea that Rush may have been telling the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth - only changing a few names to attack the innocent.

This brings us to yet another piece of the puzzle I've been holding onto all these years, and am only now revealing.

A 1999 analysis by Daniel Perez presented an astonishing discovery that links the US government directly to the Cydonia complex on Mars. Officially the appearance of gigantic, two-mile-wide 'Monuments' on this Martian plateau is just the result of a "trick of light and shadow".

If you have taken the time to survey the evidence, see the symmetry of the Face, see the pentagon-shaped design of the nearby 'D&M Pyramid' and study the extensive geometric alignments of the whole area, then you might not be so easily hoodwinked back into the slumber of mainstream 'consensus' reality.

Remember I mentioned a five-sided pyramid? Think for a minute... is there any comparable building like that in America?

But of course, the two could not be related in any way. Of course not. That would be ridiculous.

Or would it?

Assume for a minute that you have inherited ancient maps of this most unique area of Mars. Would there not be a huge temptation to pay homage to it here on Earth somehow - using ancient science to create a mirror of Heaven while still on Earth?

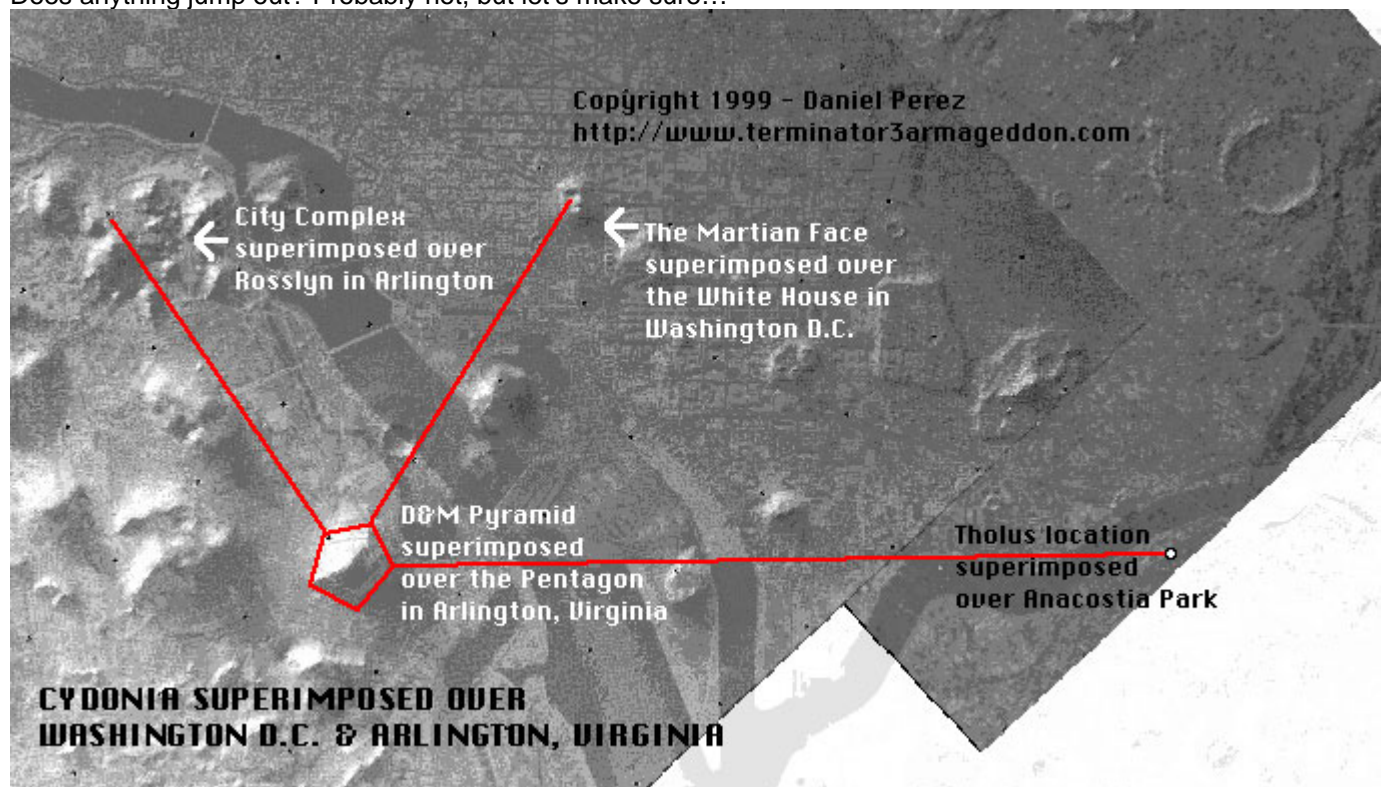

Try this. Try lining up the Pentagon in DC with the pentagon in Cydonia, Mars. Get all the ends tight. Make it a perfect geometric fit. Leave no overlaps.

Then, look at the maps together. Make sure it's just a coincidence. Make sure there are no other connections. Obviously there wouldn't be, because the Cydonia complex isn't even real - and this whole thing is just delusional.

OK, just for fun, let's try it.

Take the layout of Washington DC and superimpose it over the Cydonia region of Mars, by lining up the five-sided pentagon on Mars with the Pentagon building in Arlington.

Does anything jump out? Probably not, but let's make sure...

Take a close look!

Once you get the two pentagons perfectly lined up, the location of the Face on Mars corresponds precisely to where the White House is in Washington DC.

Just a coincidence?

It becomes harder to disprove when you see that there are SEVERAL common landmarks between the two areas - including a notably UFO-shaped area of Cydonia called the "Tholus" that corresponds to a circular street in Anacostia Park.

Also, keep in mind that if Cydonia is a real city (and I believe it is,) the Face is almost certainly a monument to a great leader. In the US, we put the faces of our leaders - all of whom served in the White House - on the money, and the most well-known leaders were carved directly into rock on the side of Mount Rushmore. So lining up the Face with the White House makes sense on more than just a "happenstance" level.

Since the Pentagon was only built recently, this may or may not have been originally intended in the layout - but when you read the article you can see there are other features that also match up, which date back to when DC was first laid out - like the first city of Rosslyn corresponding to the primary 'city' on the Cydonia plateau, and the circle in Anacostia Park corresponding to the Tholus.

Unfortunately, the original animated GIF that flips between the layout of Washington DC and Cydonia no longer works as it did when I first saw this in 1999. Also, at the moment there is no link that clearly shows you how there is a perfect circle in the streets of DC to correspond with the perfectly circular 'Tholus' structure on the surface of Mars, but I remember seeing it when it was first published and I was blown away by how closely they matched.

As an update, when I typed in "Anacostia Park, Washington, DC" to Google Earth - a free download - all I had to do is cross the river, directly to the right, and there it was - a perfect circle, with six streets feeding into it, for no apparent reason.

Yet this location mates PERFECTLY with a circular form on Mars, as you can see in the original article!

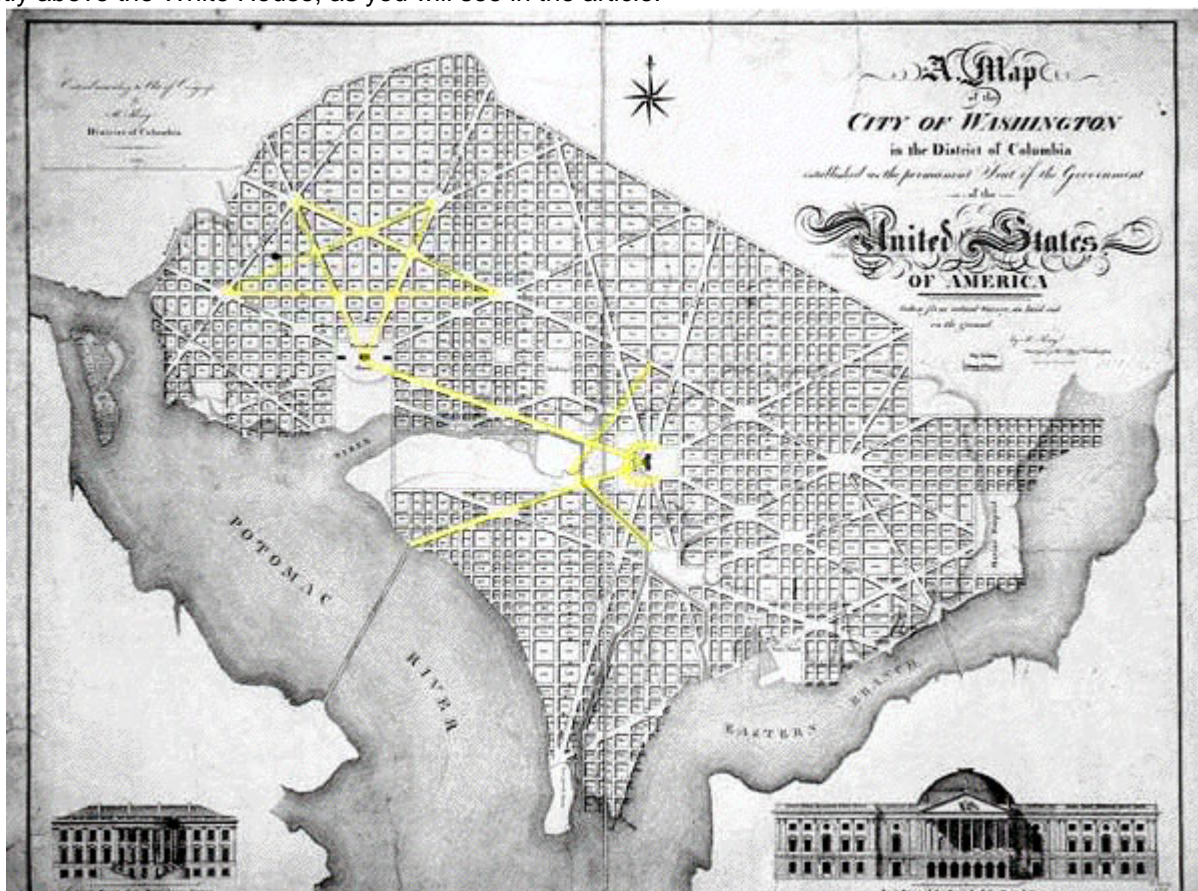

Granted, this circle is smaller in width than the Tholus, and the Face is larger in width than the White House - but this has to do with symbolism more than anything else.

Getting the Pentagon to match so closely, in Arlington, VA, was really the crowning achievement in this synchronization - and it strongly suggests that they had ancient maps of Mars all along, given all these other linked coordinates.

Apart from the Cydonia connection, it is already well established that there was Masonic forethought in the planning of the streets of DC.

Entire areas were laid out specifically to encode hidden symbolism - like the inverted pentagram of streets directly above the White House, as you will see in the article.

I've driven in DC and can tell you that these funky-shaped Masonic streets do not help you get around any easier - it might look cool to them from above, but it doesn't help your driving performance or navigational ability on the ground.

It follows, based on this same chain of reasoning, that they might have encoded more than just the symbols of their own craft into the layout - in the hopes of creating a mirror of the City of the Gods - "as above, so below".

I do not believe this is a coincidence or an accident... it strongly suggests that the Masons who founded the United States still had ancient, secret scrolls outlining the Cydonia region of Mars, and decided to design their capital city in ways that would mirror what they knew still existed on the 'mother planet'.

It also helps to explain why they would be so keen on covering up any evidence of ruins on Mars or the Moon - they consider this one of their deepest secrets.

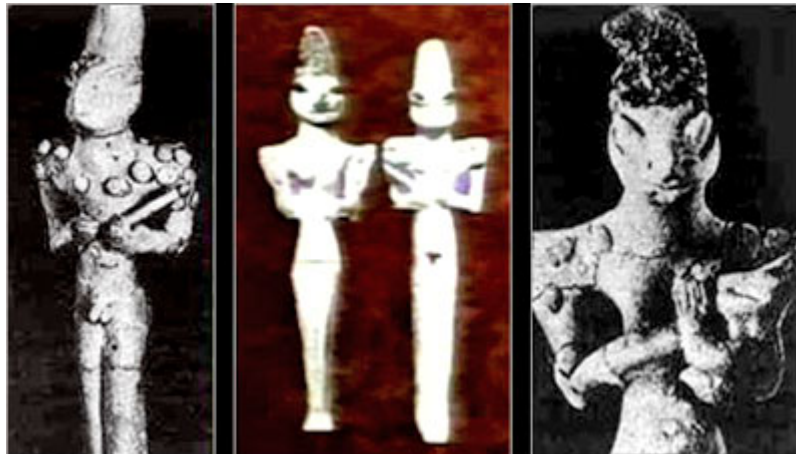

ARE THE 'ANUNNAKI' THE SURVIVORS OF MARS?

The research of Hoagland and his associates has strongly indicated that Nibiru, the alleged "12th Planet" of Zecharia Sitchin, is actually Mars. That would mean that all the Internet buzz about the "Anunnaki" - i.e. "Those who from Heaven to Earth Came" - is actually a story of the survivors of a Martian cataclysm coming to Earth and genetically enhancing the indigenous ape-men creatures with their own DNA.

This is apparently common knowledge in the insider circles that Rush Limbaugh's "Gore Report" came from.

Originally the Anunnaki combined their DNA with native Earth humans in the hopes of creating a slave race. Sitchin's voluminous research (summarized in a more digestible fashion in many of Lloyd Pye's works) indicates that the 'Anunnaki', or 'Nephilim' as they were also called, bred these slaves in the interest of mining gold - so they could hopefully create a planet-wide shield for their atmosphere.

By releasing particles of gold into the air they were hoping to reflect back the Sun's energy and forestall their own "global warming."

Sumerian statuettes of the Anunnaki...
notice similarity to helmets of Goa'Uld in Stargate SG-1

What you see here is a lizard-like head.

My first contact with insider Illuminati information was with someone who knew one of the top 90 Illuminati in the world, on a very personal level. Other than telling me they were "the good guys," which I believed at the time, he also told me they considered the Anunnaki to be very real... and that they wore helmets to scare the indigenous people and protect themselves from our different atmosphere.

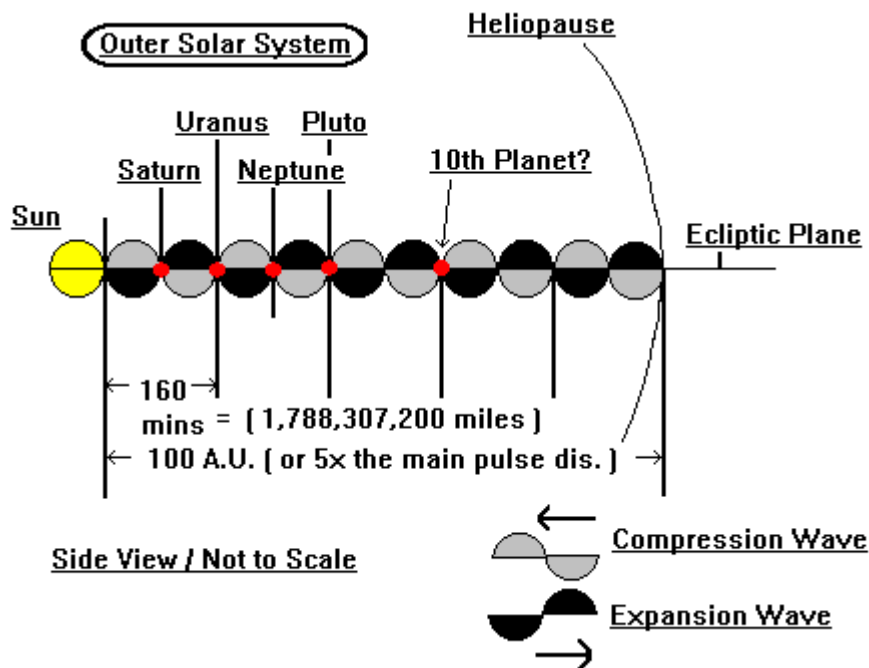

Other pictures of the Anunnaki clearly show they were more humanlike than these statues make them appear - albeit some pretty big dudes.

I am aware that Sitchin's research has often been seen as infallible - almost Divine revelation. In the orthodox Sitchin model, you have Nibiru, or "Planet X," on a 3600-year orbit, which occasionally comes close to the Earth.

This is when Sitchin believes we had the greatest contact with the Anunnaki.

As I wrote in a recent update in David's Blog, the problem with the Planet X model is that we now know planets cannot do this. Comets are small enough to have elliptical orbits, but larger objects get caught in the pressure-waves from the sun - i.e. "Stoneking Resonance" - and quickly fall into a stable orbit.

Sitchin has tried to tie in ALL of the UFO and ET phenomena to the Anunnaki, and I feel this is also a mistake. He is interpreting ancient scriptures and making conclusions that seem logical, but in some cases there is plenty of room for an alternative viewpoint.

One way in which Sitchin's model really doesn't hold up is the idea that ANY inhabited planet could have such a distant orbit - all the way out past Pluto in the freezing-cold areas of our Solar System. Now if our temperature fluctuates by just a few degrees, we fear an apocalypse. Imagine if our Earth suddenly took off into regions so cold that the best we could hope for in the summer is 50 below zero?

Obviously the Sumerian record is based on real events - Sitchin's research is quite convincing on that front - but if we're looking for the most likely real candidate for a neighboring inhabited world, we should be looking at Mars - not an unseen, undiscovered planet at the coldest fringes of space.

Hoagland and the Enterprise Mission team has not yet made all the particulars of their Sumerian re-analysis public, but I've seen it - on the God, Man and ET video, and again at our Joshua Tree conference - and I came away convinced that this is a valuable, obvious addition to the body of knowledge that Sitchin started to create.

It also seems clear that the insiders knew this all along, and were more than happy to have Sitchin make an error in judgment, so people were less likely to put it all together. That also further explains why Rush's comical outburst became such an obvious outrage that it had to be entirely struck from the record.

JOE MC MONEAGLE: REMOTE VIEWING OF FORMER INHABITANTS OF MARS

Also, Joe Mc Moneagle, who is highly respected for his accuracy in remote viewing, revealed in his book "Mind Trek" that the inhabitants of Mars were nearly twice the height of modern humans.

We might ascribe this to their having a smaller-sized planet, and therefore a weaker field of gravity that would allow the body to grow larger in size, just like goldfish grow larger in size if you give them a larger tank.

As I have written about in the CONVERGENCE series, there is clear evidence that the Earth has been continually expanding in size over time, and this may account for why the dinosaurs were so much larger than we are now. In our current gravity these giant lizards would never be able to move around or even lift their heads - but on a smaller earth they would have no trouble.

Neal Adams has done a great job of animating the expansion of the Earth and other bodies in the solar system here: <http://www.nealadams.com/nmu.html>

The larger body size of those from Mars, and obviously their vastly superior technology, could account for many ancient tales of "Giants" who came to the Earth, and were worshipped as Gods.

IF YOU HAVEN'T TOTALLY RUN SCREAMING YET, OR COLLAPSED FROM SARCASTIC LAUGHTER...

If you've never encountered any of these concepts before, then you're probably new to most of this, and there is a lot more reading you can do if you are interested. You certainly can laugh if you want to, but what is important for us at this time is that the world's elites consider this to be very real. Many different sources of information all line up to tell the same story.

In the next section of The Revealing, coming up soon, we will explore the further implications of this astonishing 'leak' of information from the 'Gore Report', and analyze some of the excerpts in more detail. This is also going to be covered from another angle in our upcoming article with Richard Hoagland on interplanetary climate change.

Lastly, two clips recently appeared on YouTube that further exposes the agendas of the "New World Order" in a form that is humorous and hard-hitting. We've already recommended that you watch the Aaron Russo clips in earlier sections of this series, but this is a great summary.

Comedy, as we said before, is a key ingredient in relieving fear, so we recommend watching these clips.

UPDATE: WAS RUSH 'JUST JOKING' - BUT GOT TOO CLOSE TO THE TRUTH?

This was the first update I wrote after posting the transcript - before I realized that most people would just automatically assume that Rush was joking. For my ears, it was so identical to everything I've been putting together that I didn't even HEAR the humor in it, until recently.

It's a fascinating and gratifying experience for me to bring you these updates and get your email feedback, pointing out things I would never have thought of.

Here's an email from a reader who was the first to point out that this whole episode could have been an attempt at satire:

"I suspect that Rush's comments may have been a satire - I don't have the context of the whole show to be certain but he seems to be mocking Al Gore, talking about Martian robber barons coming to the USA and working at Halliburton, Enron, Boeing, etc., having destroyed the martian environment with urban sprawl and global warming.

He says it was a top secret report and then brags that as a powerful media figure he got to see the report and is of his own volition sharing this top secret info to millions of his listeners... Rush may be arrogant but he's not that foolish to be sharing classified info on the air without approval.

The government wouldn't call such a report "The Gore Report." I suggest you consider this angle and make a disclaimer, with the consideration that Rush's satire may have developed from him seeing/hearing genuine info about Martian ruins and having permission to joke about this at Al Gore's expense."

Obviously, this is the ONLY explanation that could give Rush an "out", so that people like me would appear to be the idiots in not realizing he was joking - tying in "Area 52," Martians and UFOs with Al Gore's campaign about global warming, and fingering the usual corporate suspects... tossing in Skull and Bones to try to make it seem even more outrageous.

Where I disagree with my e-mailer is that I do not necessarily believe Rush had permission to come forward with this story. Part of why I finally chose to publish it is that while I have no information about whether Mars had internal combustion engines and a world elite that located themselves on a safe, isolated island, I have heard much of what Rush said in this update from other, independent sources in a position to know.

This is information that has NOT been made public, so even if Rush was following these stories online he wouldn't have known everything he said. Furthermore, as I said earlier, Cydonia is the only area of the planet that has giant monuments - so that seems to be a good fit with Rush's statements about the elites finding a secure compound to isolate themselves in. That's where they would have spent all the money, and built the most noble structures - and that is exactly what we see.

It may well be that Rush didn't change or distort enough of what he was actually told for this to be an acceptable form of disinformation. The part that is odd to me is how specific and detailed he is, how fast it just rolls out of his mouth, and how well it fits with many other pieces of data, some of which I still haven't published.

[One example is that there was a Sci Fi Network documentary in 2005 that very clearly tried to tie in the "Goa'Uld" from Stargate SG-1 with Mars, and blatantly pulled many elements from Hoagland's model as well as my own. In fact, they actually used a graphic from one of my Convergence books in one scene early along - obviously without crediting the source.

I have heard at least two different black-ops sources tell me that Stargate SG-1 - particularly the first and second season - is being used to acclimate the public to some of the real things that are being dealt with on the inside. The Goa'Uld are intended to be the "Anunnaki", and this other documentary made that point very clear.

Episodes like "Wormhole X-Treme" give an insider's wink and nod to the viewers, helping them realize that even though the show is fake, it is based upon real truths. This is again going to be something I will discuss in more detail as time goes on.]

THE MOON VIDEO WAS ONLY A RECONSTRUCTION

By the way, if you've been keeping up with my frequent updates to this site in David's Blog, then you should easily recall the video of astronauts allegedly exploring ruins on the Moon.

After doing more research, I did find out that it was a digital reconstruction by a Spanish CG animation team called Dibilutoon Studios. However, it was a reconstruction based on detailed witness testimony, and thus lovingly designed to look as authentic as possible.

We do run the risk of pointing things out that can be shot down later. I certainly am not "trying to be right" about everything, nor will I alter or remove content to try to 'save face' if something like this comes up.

The skeptics try to take everything as if it were a farce, a joke, an object of ridicule. Individual pieces of data can be attacked - as in the case of the alleged moon video and of Limbaugh's very odd statement - but that doesn't destroy the whole model.

Thanks to a tip from a reader, I've tracked down detailed analyses of the 'obelisks' on the Moon's surface that I had alluded to in the last Moon article. I will write this all up some time in the next couple days. Just hit www.divinecosmos.com and click on "David's Blog" to keep up with these breaking developments.

In this series on The Revealing, we are continuing to link together a vast array of interconnected pieces of data that suggest a larger, hidden order. If Limbaugh's comments were totally baseless and sarcastic,

- Why was the transcript so quickly removed from his own website?
- Why was it never discussed in any form again, until now?
- How did he happen to connect so many dots that many other insider sources have alluded to in the past?

A BIT OF READER FEEDBACK...

This letter appeared in the discussion group this morning and it represents what an effect this series is having. What 'The Revealing' series offers is a perspective of hope that is almost never seen anywhere else: "The timing of these articles is perfect. (To me) it seemed for years that the elements of corruption and [negative, self-serving behavior] were steadily increasing their stranglehold on the mainstream media and the government, but now it's very easy to see how the plans are cracking around the edges.

Every day, a new tidbit of info leaks out. While each is but a small piece, it seems people in general are awakening to the larger picture that's in front of us. While the entire scenario [of the 'endgame' plan of "The Revealing"] this 3-part article lays out hasn't happened yet, it's not beyond the realm of possibility for me.

My biggest thought reading this was that the acceleration of the time table will be a major problem for the [negative elite]. I mean who's going to really believe that the families running this country are descended from Jesus and/or partially divine when they're responsible for Iraq, New Orleans, etc.?

Who's going to believe that the solution to maintaining their divinity is through hundreds of years of inbreeding? That's about as silly as me taking moral advice from the organization that thought the Crusades and the Inquisition were good ideas. (pardon the sarcasm)

[DW: Actually, Svali says that the Illuminati DID penetrate the highest levels of the Vatican - so our reader is right on track.]

In this era where more and more people see through the illusion, can these plans ever really work? To me the answer is a hopeful 'Surely not.'

Just like in David's [lucid] dream[s], where he can show Ascended abilities [to the people around him] until the illusion is broken [by him telling them "None of this is real, I'm having a lucid dream," at which point they would zone out and walk away - apparently 'protected' from having their illusion broken], the [negative elite] group(s) plans can only work if the people don't realize that it's an illusion.

I hope the analogy is close enough to work. [DW: It is.]

The key to the entire thing is balance. That's the part that finally explained to me how it's possible to overcome the negative. The harder they try to draw the strings together, the more the contents of the bag leak out.

It's a great expose', and it ties so many loose facts together... kudos, David. You've clearly done your homework far better than I, and I thought I was more aware than most.

May we all shine on."

FURTHER PROOF OF "FAMILY" IN FREEFALL

The day after we posted this latest update, a screaming red headline appeared on the Drudge Report... and it was warning everyone that one of top-five "Family" (i.e. Illuminati) corporations, Viacom, is suing YouTube/Google for (cue Dr. Evil voice) "one BILLION dollars."

"YouTube's soaring popularity has been a cause of fascination but also fear among the owners of traditional media outlets, who worry that YouTube's displaying of clips from their programs — without compensation — will lure away viewers and ad dollars from cable and broadcast TV.

Viacom is especially at risk because much of its programming is aimed at younger audiences who also are heavy Internet users...

In a statement, Viacom lashed out at YouTube's business practices, saying it has "built a lucrative business out of exploiting the devotion of fans to others' creative works in order to enrich itself and its corporate parent Google."

Viacom said YouTube's business model, "which is based on building traffic and selling advertising off of unlicensed content, is clearly illegal and is in obvious conflict with copyright laws."... In addition to damages, Viacom is also seeking an injunction prohibiting Google and YouTube from using its clips."

This is clearly showing the level of desperation - as online video has taken off more than anyone would have ever dreamed even one year ago. I conducted an informal survey this morning, and with very little effort I was able to find a list of well over 100 different websites following the YouTube formula.

Even more interestingly, as it turns out, Viacom really doesn't have much of a case... and therefore probably won't win this lawsuit:

"There's one thing missing from most coverage of Viacom's $1 billion lawsuit against Google and YouTube: the law. Sure, there's copyrighted material on YouTube. But Google (GOOG) employees didn't put it there; YouTube's users did. And whether Viacom's (VIA) lawyers like it or not, user-stolen content is treated differently under the law of the land.

The Digital Millennium Copyright Act is pretty clear on this: The operator of an Internet service is not responsible for the content its users post, save for taking it offline when it receives a "takedown" notice from a copyright holder...

Google's lawyers, I'd bet, have been waiting for this lawsuit all along - a big-money lawsuit from a high-profile opponent with a perilously weak legal argument. Sure, Viacom may have felt compelled to file this lawsuit to protect its copyrighted content - but if it loses, it will be in a much weaker position to negotiate business terms with Google."

You remember our discussion about Chaos and Complexity Theory from parts I and II. We set forth the concept that the Internet, like the global economy, is a "complex adaptive system" that cannot be collapsed - only evolved into yet a higher level of order. Similarly, online video is here to stay - and if you look at the history of MP3 file-sharing websites, when one was successfully taken down (i.e. Napster) another came up in its place very soon afterwards (i.e. Kazaa).

If you have a careful, watchful eye, you can start observing these events, not as inconsequential nuisances in your daily search, but proof positive that the negative elite are losing their grip on control by the day. Fox recently bought MySpace and are terrified that another website could come in and replace it.

This is why, as I have so often stated, there is no reason to worship "Family" with fear.

They can't move forward on any new agendas when right now they're just desperately trying to keep themselves afloat. Don't think it's just going to stay like it is now... I have seen that there are some very amazing, unprecedented changes still ahead. Everyone will be quite surprised.

I was having detailed information come through, predicting all of this, back in the late 1990s, and another reason why I have no fear about the future is because these prophecies have been coming true, right down to the letter, again and again. Why would they suddenly stop now?

In the next section of this series we will more deeply explore the "radiant mind energy" that 'Family' has secretly known about - and used - for thousands of years. This is perhaps their deepest Secret - and their knowledge goes far beyond the film with the same title.

Once you understand what they know, and how they are using it, you can start turning things around in your own life - for the positive.
